Martial Law Continues In Two Large Strike Areas

SETTLEMENT APPEARS TO BE DISTANT

Funerals Planned for Two Victims of Riot at Kohler Plant
CITIZENS ARE WARNED
Striking Longshoremen Are Scheduled to Return to Work Tomorrow

(By United Press)
ONE OF America's major strikes was settled today and another appeared near mediation. In two other controversies, however, agreement seemed distant and martial law was reported to be in effect to prevent violence and bloodshed.
The west coast's longshoremen's strike finally was settled after 82 days of bloody strife. Workmen will return to the docks tomorrow. Federal mediators predicted early agreement in the disputes between 800 livestock handlers and their employers at the world's largest livestock market center in Chicago. A sympathetic walkout of 8000 butchers and meat cutters appeared to have been averted. National guardsmen maintained martial law as the strike of 6000 truck drivers went into its 14th day at Minneapolis. Federal mediators prepared a new plan for settlement.
Pickets walked side by side with troops, and settlement seemed distant in the strike of 5000 in the model village of Kohler, Wis. Home of the bathroom fixture plant of former Governor Walker J. Kohler. Funerals were planned for two killed in rioting Friday.

BY FRED BAILEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—(UP)—Adjutant General Elmer A. Walsh, tightening the grip of martial law, today warned Minneapolis citizens that they would be imprisoned in a military stockade for any violations of his "dictator" rule.
Court-martial under war-time methods will follow any infractions of nearly 800 "military rules for citizens," he said. Previously citizens taken into custody were released after a warning.
A new peace plan was advanced today by federal mediators. Father Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunnigan, representatives of the 166 trucking employers, whose drivers are on strike, conferred with the mediators.
Father Haas said if the employers accepted the plan he would present it to the drivers' union. Previous peace plans were rejected by the employers. Details were not revealed.
About 1000 persons have been arrested, principally for violation of the 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. downtown parking ban since martial law became effective five days ago.
Despite orders prohibiting picketing.

JACK DEMPSEY DIVORCE VALID

RENO, Nev., July 30.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey's divorce in 1931 from Estelle Taylor, motion picture actress, is valid, as far as he is concerned, District Attorney Melvin Jepson said today, explaining a perjury charge against Dempsey's resident witness is not aimed against the legality of the former heavyweight champion's decree.
Jepson recently issued a complaint charging James McKay, Reno gambling baron and Dempsey's resident witness, with perjury in connection with his testimony in Dempsey's suit and his testimony in his own defense against mail fraud charges in a New York federal court.
"Dempsey's residence is not being attacked, nor do I believe his divorce will or can be in any way," Jepson said. "It is not necessary that the resident witness testify that he saw the party every day."
"Mr. McKay, however," Jepson continued, "testified in one court that he saw Mr. Dempsey in Reno every day over a certain period of time. In another court he testified that within the same period of time, he (McKay) was in a hospital in California."

Campaign For Election Will Be Clean

NEW YORK, July 30.—(UP)—An over zealous election worker was blamed today for premature disclosure that the fall campaign probably will be the cleanest in years.
Unable to resist the opportunity afforded by a throng at a funeral, the worker distributed cakes of soap with the legend: "Vote for Congressman Emanuel Celler and keep clean."
Celler today said he regretted the untimely revelation which was to have been kept secret until just before election day. The soap, it was learned, was made by a company whose slogan is "step on a cake of soap and slip into office."

NEW FLIGHT TO STRATOSPHERE CONTEMPLATED

Collapse of "Explorer" is Investigated by Backers of Flight
WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—The National Geographic society, co-sponsor with the army of Saturday's ill-fated voyage into the stratosphere, hopes to back another stratosphere expedition, officials indicated today.
Plans for another attempt to better the world's altitude mark are vague so far and it is expected nothing will be done definitely until scientists make a thorough study of the wreckage of the balloon which ripped while at an altitude of nearly 12 miles and jeopardized the lives of its crew of three.
Because of the time required to fabricate such a large balloon and to make another airtight gondola, it was doubted that any further stratosphere flight could be attempted this year.
It is understood that the National Geographic society has ample funds to finance another expedition as heavy insurance was carried on the balloon which gave way Saturday. American companies insured the craft for the period it was being transported and was on the ground, and Lloyd's of London carried the risk while it was in flight. While the insurance has not yet been adjusted, it appeared evident that Lloyd's will have to stand the loss as the balloon ripped while in mid-air.
The wreckage of the balloon, the gondola and all equipment will be sent here for scientific examination.
The debris will be gone over carefully in the hope that some record of scientific value can be salvaged. Readings of many of the scientific instruments were recorded constantly throughout the flight by automatic cameras. In the crash of the gondola, it was feared that most of these cameras had broken and the film ruined by exposure to light. Society officials, however, were still hopeful that some of the film might be instant and something of scientific value saved from the wreckage.
The balloon's crew of three—Maj. William E. Kepner, Capt. Albert W. Stevens and Capt. Orvil Anderson—are expected to come here shortly to assist the inquiry into causes of the balloon's failure.

CONVICTION OF 'THE FOX' UPHELD

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—The District of Columbia court of appeals today upheld the conviction of Norman T. Whitaker, serving 18 months in jail in connection with the Lindbergh baby ransom hoax.
Whitaker was convicted with Gaston B. Means last year on charges of conspiring to steal $35,000 from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, wife of Edward B. McLean, former Washington publisher.
Mrs. McLean had entered into negotiations with Means in an effort to recover the kidnapped Lindbergh child. Means represented that he was in touch with the abductors. Whitaker was brought into the transaction, being introduced by Means as "the fox." Whitaker, a former practicing patent attorney and a nationally known chess player, appealed from the conviction.

BRITAIN WILL BUILD 460 NEW FIGHT PLANES

Re-Armament Program for "Next War" Announced By Stanley Baldwin
LONDON, July 30.—(UP)—Ominous preparations for "the next war" were revealed in the house of commons today when Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, announced Britain's plans for building up her air force as a part of an imperial defense plan.
Baldwin started the house by making the following points:
1—The air force will be built up over four years from 844 to 1304 planes, an increase of 460 fighting ships.
2—The civilian population will be drilled for defense against air raids.
3—The acting prime minister virtually sanctioned Germany's right to re-arm, because of her absolute defenselessness in the air.
4—He intimated his expectation of another war, although he does not expect it in the immediate future.
He indicated that the 47,000,000 civilians in the British Isles soon would be engaged in rehearsal for protection against air raids when he announced that the next stage of the government's preparations would involve communicating with local authorities and public utility companies.
"Before long steps will be taken to communicate the necessary instructions to the general public," he said.
The new British air force of 1304 planes would compare with the leading air power, about 1400 in the Soviet Union and 1050 in the United States.
Among the motives for the air force increase, Baldwin cited the decision of the United States to add 1184 planes to its naval service.
The government's program met with opposition from labor. The opposition deplored an increase in armaments which would jeopardize the chances of international disarmament. A labor motion of censure, reads:
"Armaments—That while re-affirming its adherence to the system of collective security under the"

First Guns of War Roared 20 Years Ago

By UNITED PRESS
Twenty years ago today the first guns of the world war began to thunder in Europe, ushering in four terrible years during which cannon never ceased to speak, day or night.
On July 30, 1914, Austrian artillery began to shell Belgrade, capital of Serbia.
On the same day Germany warned Russia against the mobilization already under way there. The last hopes of averting a general war were dwindling rapidly.

PRIVATE RITES TOMORROW FOR FAMOUS ARTIST

Simple Services Planned for Marie Dressler, Who Attained Fame After 60

HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—(UP)—Its traditional gaiety shadowed by the death of Marie Dressler, Hollywood mourned the death of the beloved actress today while her body lay in some secluded, flower-filled room awaiting simple services tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.
Countless messages, pouring in from all parts of the country, were in evidence of a nation's sorrow over the death of the popular "ugly duckling" who found that fame began at 60.
The grand old lady of the stage and screen died late Saturday in the seclusion of a Santa Barbara estate. Active until recent weeks, the 65-year-old actress learned three years ago that cancer would eventually bring death. But when the end came, it was kindly.
Dr. Franklin R. Nuzum, her physician, revealed she had been in a coma for 29 days. There were no last words, he said. The actress' fretful sleep was suddenly replaced by an infinite calm. A few close friends at her side wept, but she did not hear.
The funeral services will be private. Even if the actress had not requested this her associates would not have allowed public rites.
They recalled the disorderly scenes at the funerals of Rudolph Valentino, Lillian Tashman and other screen favorites.
The body was brought here by motor car from Santa Barbara by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Walker, intimate friends. It was taken to a mortuary, there to await the simple services tomorrow. The Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of film-dom's famous Little Church Around the Corner, will officiate at services in the vine-covered Wee Kirk o' the Heather.
Those attending will be admitted by card only.
As the services draw to a close, Jeannette MacDonald, screen star, will sing the star's favorite hymn, "Abide With Me."

WALLACE SAYS CROP CONTROL TO CONTINUE

Sec'y. of Agriculture Warns Against Republican Mismanagement

RUSTON, La., July 30.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace attacked the Republican party with acid phrases today, warning the electorate not to succumb to "the short-sighted leadership" of persons who use the drought as the spearhead for an attack on the agricultural adjustment program.
In this small northern Louisiana community, Wallace told an audience of farmers and small merchants to select counsel of administration opponents. "Do not give them an opportunity for mismanagement again," he advised.
The secretary emphasized that the crop controls exercised by the AAA would be continued despite inroads into surplus which the drought had made.
Wallace, whose father was a Republican cabinet officer under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and who himself was a Republican until the elder Wallace broke with the party high command, accused Republicans of always having been "short on statesmanship."
He assailed those who contended the drought has solved the surplus problem and advocated the AAA, pointing out that if controls were removed entirely a year of ordinary weather "would bring us right back to the 1932 situation."
Wallace said this alleged effort to fashion the hardships of the drought to political usage was "typical of the short-sighted leadership which characterized the Republican party from 1921 to 1932."
"There have always been men of high integrity and excellent executive ability in the Republican party," he said, "but the party has always been short on statesmanship and never more strikingly than during the period from 1921 to 1932."
The secretary charged that throughout these years Republican

RUSH AID TO 150 HOMELESS IN FIRE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—State authorities today joined with Red Cross and other relief organizations in rushing aid to 150 persons made homeless by a fire which late Saturday destroyed half the buildings of Dorris, northern California lumber town, with a loss estimated at $500,000.
State forest rangers were instructed by Deputy Forester W. B. Ridge to issue blankets and supplies to those whose homes were burned, while Red Cross and SERRA officials supervised erection of soup kitchens and temporary shelters.
Virtually the entire business section of the town was consumed in the blaze, including the plant of the Associated Lumber and Box company, where 125 men were employed. No one was injured.
Dentist, $10 and $29.
Drugs, $5 a month.
Oberlin School, half-year tuition, $285.
Massages, $24.
Maintaining piano, $150 a month.
The accounting, filed by Lucy's mother, Mrs. Lucy Cotton Thomas McGraw, former actress and society leader, showed that $272,734 had been spent in the girl's name between January, 1929, and December, 1933. Mrs. McGraw is seeking a reduction in the $300,000 bond she was required to post as guardian. Lucy inherited the money from her father, the late Edward Russell Thomas, sportsman.

PRESIDENT'S ONLY DAUGHTER WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall Granted Decree Today in Nine Minutes

MINDEN, Nev., July 30.—(UP)—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, the president's only daughter, today won an uncontested divorce from Curtis Dall, New York and Chicago broker.
Judge Clark Gault granted the decree to Mrs. Dall on her complaint charging "mental cruelty," which was based on marital incompatibility, following a brief hearing.
Mrs. Dall, deeply tanned after many weeks of sun bathing, appeared to be unmoved by the court's verdict splitting the marital tie between herself and the father of her two children, "Sis" and "Buz," famous White House grandchildren.
She paid no attention to newspapermen and a few residents of this quiet town who had come to the courthouse to see the president's daughter.
Her two children were not present at the hearing. They had been left at the Pyramid Lake ranch where Mrs. Dall had spent most of her six weeks' residence in Nevada. A negro nurse and a secret service guard were with them.
The hearing was held behind closed doors. Mrs. Dall entered the court room at 11:05 a. m. and the bailiff locked the doors behind her. No one else was admitted. Nine minutes later she emerged, divorced from Dall.
The suit, therefore, in addition to asking $39,014.54 principal, $16,625.75 interest and accumulated interest from January 29, 1934, seeks $9735 for attorneys' fees, plus court costs.
The complaint charged that "the plaintiff has demanded payment but the defendant has failed, neglected and refused to pay said sum or any portion of it."
In a promissory note which Johnson delivered to the bank, there was a provision that if the plaintiff brought suit to collect any portion of the amounts borrowed, the defendant would pay attorneys' fees and court costs.
The suit, therefore, in addition to asking $39,014.54 principal, $16,625.75 interest and accumulated interest from January 29, 1934, seeks $9735 for attorneys' fees, plus court costs.

JUDGE SEWELL'S RETIREMENT ASKED

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—(UP)—Resignation of Superior Judge Harry P. Sewell, jurist conducting the sanity trial of Louis Rude Payne, convicted slayer of his mother and brother, has been demanded by Presiding Judge Frank C. Collier. It was revealed today. No reason for the action was given.
The presiding judge said he had asked for the resignation last Thursday after Judge Sewell had been reported missing mysteriously for 12 hours. Sewell later was located in a downtown hotel, ill of bronchitis, according to his physician.
Judge Collier revealed he had sent a prepared resignation to Sewell asking him to sign it and hand it in at once. With the resignation Collier sent the following note:
"Dear Judge Sewell: The enclosed is self-explanatory. You will keep your promise to me. I would like to have it in my hand not later than 9 p. m. today at the University club."
Collier said Sewell had not replied to date. It was indicated additional information might be released later.

BATTLE IS IMMINENT

Fleeing Rebels Escape Over Border Into Jugo-Slavia

(By United Press)
A NEW CABINET, headed towards Fascism and Monarchism, took over today in Austria.
The Nazis were crushed and except for scattered violence fighting virtually had ceased all over the country. Military trial of arrested Nazis, with many hangings possible, was started today.
Total casualties were estimated at from 200 to 250 dead and more than 1000 wounded.
Otto Planetta confessed he killed Chancellor Dollfuss. He said he shot for personal vengeance because Dollfuss had discharged him from the army. The bullet taken from Dollfuss' body was fired from the same calibre gun that Planetta carried.
A serious international problem existed over Germany's nomination of Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen as special minister to Austria. France and Italy were reported to be urging Austria not to accept von Papen unless Germany gives guarantees against Nazi interference in Austria. Berlin was perturbed and annoyed by Austria's hesitation.

FIRE MENACES DELTA REGION

MARTINEZ, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—A menacing grass and brush fire, which already had laid waste several thousand acres of tule swamps, grain fields and other crops, was reported burning in the San Joaquin river delta region, about 40 miles east of here, today.
Acres of peat bogs in the area where the fire was burning made the problem of fire-fighting more difficult.
It was reported fire wardens planned to cut river levees, flooding the territory, in an effort to control the blaze.

1000 MEN PATROL FOREST FIRE AREA

PASADENA, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—An army of 1000 men guarded fire lines in the Sierra Madre mountains today to frustrate any fresh outbreak of a fire that denuded 3200 acres of valuable watershed and mountain playground last week.
Although the blaze was reported definitely under control, William V. Mendenhall, supervisor of the Angeles National Forest, said safeguards were being taken to cope with any emergency.
"We have sent some of the CCC men back to their camps, but a sufficient force will be maintained in the fire area until the last ember is burned out," he said.

Accidents In Heavy Traffic Injure 18; One Killed

TOTAL DEATHS FROM CRASHES HITS 33 MARK

Heavy traffic along the coast and main highways brought traffic injuries to 18 persons over the week-end in Orange county, in addition to the previously reported death of a San Diego youth in a motorcycle wreck in Tustin Saturday afternoon.

An inquest will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from the Harrell and Brown funeral home for Nello George Sabato, 20, of San Diego, who was instantly killed Saturday afternoon when the motor cycle on which he was riding overturned. Pete Gerache, 22, also of San Diego, driver of the motorcycle, sustained serious cuts and bruises but required only first aid treatment at the Santa Ana Valley hospital after which he was returned to his home.

The accident occurred at D and First streets in Tustin when Gerache swerved his vehicle to avoid a truck. The cycle skidded 90 feet and did not hit the truck. A bottle of whiskey was found in the saddlebags on the motorcycle and Gerache had been drinking but was not found to be intoxicated by a physician, according to state officers.

The death of Sabato brought the total of traffic deaths this year to 33, as compared to 25 at this time last year. He is survived by his mother in San Diego and funeral services will be held from the Benbow funeral home there.

Car Hits Bridge

When a rear tire blew out on the car of Walter J. Wichman, 19, Los Angeles, his car crashed into a bridge on the coast highway near Huntington Beach and brought serious injury to Wichman, Miss Frances Robertson, 18, and Miss Elma Carlson, 18, both of Los Angeles. They were treated by a physician.

C. L. Holland, 42, Los Angeles, was hurt Saturday afternoon when his car and a machine driven by M. T. Murokoshi, 54, Stanton, collided at Dale and Crescent roads.

A wide search for an alleged hit and run driver ended early Sunday morning at the Orange County hospital when Santa Ana police located Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Gledhill, 912 North Olive street, Anaheim, who were involved in a wreck at Balboa, Newport Beach.

Police used the police radio to open the search for an unknown driver who left the scene of a wreck about 2 a. m. Sunday.

When questioned by police, Gledhill said his wife had been thrown through the windshield and when he was unable to find the Newport Beach hospital, he rushed to the county hospital. He said he did not run away from the wreck but there was so much traffic and congestion that he did not want to block traffic, according to police reports.

Riding in his car but uninjured were J. R. Branstad, 1117 East Whiting avenue, Fullerton and Mrs. Marie Smith, 1124 North Palm avenue, Anaheim.

Mrs. Gledhill received severe cuts about the face and nose while John Phillips, Los Angeles, the other driver; Miss Marjorie Lewis and Odene Smith, Long Beach, were cut and bruised.

Gledhill was not held by police.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Carlie, 124 1/2 Ellis place, Fullerton, reported to police Saturday that his car was struck by a hit-and-run driver at Fifth and Main streets, after his car was badly damaged. No one was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Luis Garcia, Los Angeles, suffered cuts and bruises in a wreck near Santa Ana yesterday and were given first aid treatment at the Santa Ana Valley hospital. John Bishop, R. D. 2, box 366, Santa Ana, the other driver, was not hurt.

Driver Arrested

Mrs. Babe Katherine Engleman, 26, 515 South Flower street, Santa Ana, was cut and bruised last evening when she wrecked her car at Flower and Highland streets by hitting a curb. She was jailed for drunken driving.

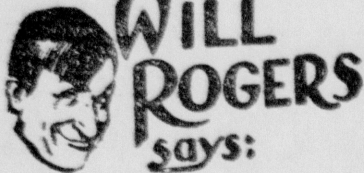

Four-year-old Ann Lynch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Lynch of 116 North Orange street, Brea, suffered a broken right arm and Mrs. J. A. McCabe and her daughter, 116 North Orange, Brea, were badly hurt and bruised at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night when the sedan driven by Mrs. McCabe, according to reports of the accident, was struck by a coupe driven by Ed Curtis of the Associated Oil company lease near Brea.

The accident occurred near the intersection of Birch avenue and Poplar street. The Curtis car struck the other machine in the right and rear, turning it completely around on the highway. It is said. Both cars were damaged and the McCabe car is reported to be beyond repair. Curtis was uninjured, as was little Doline McCabe, riding in the rear seat with the other girl. The injured were treated by a physician and returned to their homes.

Children Hurt

He received head lacerations. Thirty minutes later, in Newport, 8-year-old Bert Galbraith was struck by a car driven by W. J. Biers, Santa Ana, as the boy was crossing Central avenue. Biers carried him to the hospital, where leg injuries were treated.

Miss Gilda Allen, 22, of Costa Mesa, was injured Sunday afternoon when struck by a car driven by W. Miller, Pasadena, at Craig.

F. D. R. STUDIES U. S. PROJECTS IN FAR WEST

ABOARD THE U. S. S. NEW ORLEANS, with President Roosevelt, July 30.—(By Radio to the United Press)—Reports on federal projects in the far west today as the U. S. S. Houston carried him toward Astoria, Ore., the next port of call on his vacation trip.

The president's study of the irrigation, navigation and hydro-electric projects sponsored by his "New Deal" in the Pacific Northwest was to be broken during the day by a little diversion—the resumption of tactical maneuvers between his flagship and its convoy, the New Orleans.

As the two ships plowed the waves steadily eastward, they maintained a speed of 22 knots an hour. By dawn the president was about 1500 miles from his destination.

Mr. Roosevelt spent some time Sunday studying the reports. He attended church services aboard the Houston as had been his custom every Sunday while at sea.

The president and his party said "Aloha" to Hawaii Saturday after a most ventful visit. After leaving Honolulu, the cruisers stopped briefly at Molokai, where Mr. Roosevelt and his sons, John and Franklin, fished. They caught two dolphins.

TO MEET HUSBAND

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—(UP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, paused briefly in San Francisco today on her way to Portland, Ore., to meet the president.

Slipping quietly into town after a visit to Yosemite park, Mrs. Roosevelt went to a downtown hotel on her arrival over the weekend. Yesterday she attended services at Grace cathedral, accompanied by Miss Lorena A. Hickock. Secret service men remained in the background.

Mrs. Roosevelt smilingly refused to be photographed or interviewed. Nor would she comment on her daughter's pending divorce from Curtis Dall, which was expected to come into the Nevada courts today.

The president's wife was a guest at a small hotel, from which she will leave during the day for a drive north on the Redwood highway to Portland.

RANGER KILLED

MERCEDES, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—Norman Nelson, 25, Yosemite National park ranger, was injured fatally early today when his automobile overturned near Mariposa as he returned to the park from San Francisco, where he delivered personal belongings to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Nelson, a native of St. Paul, Minn., was taken to Yosemite hospital but died shortly afterward from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Miner made arrangements with the oil company, he said, for sale of the California product through the more than 16,000 outlets the oil company has. The product is used for cleaning automobile finishes.

Onyx and Speedway in Newport Beach. Miss Allen ran out of an alley into Onyx, directly before Miller's car, it was reported.

Nelson B. Paul, 57, La Habra, was slightly hurt at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night when his car collided with the machine of John Mauer, 18, 417 East Central avenue, La Habra, at the Northern crossing north of Buena Park. Nelson was jailed for drunken driving by State Officer Ben Craig.

SETTLEMENT OF STRIKES SEEMS FAR DISTANT

ing, striking truck drivers continued to interfere with trucking operations, it was said at military headquarters.

Employers, whose refusal to accept a federal peace plan resulted in declaration of martial law by Gov. Floyd B. Olson, likewise violated military orders, General Walsh said.

"There will be no more leniency with willful violators; martial law cannot be evaded with impunity," General Walsh said.

At the same time new orders governing the movement of trucks were issued.

Beer trucks were prohibited from operating. Operation of trucks carrying mineral water, flour, outdoor advertising, ice cream and cheese, butter and other dairy products will be allowed, under permit.

The ban on interstate trucks was lifted in an order issued today.

Pressure had been brought to bear on state and military authorities because of the doubtful legality of such restrictions. It was reported.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—(UP)—The Pacific coast longshoremen's strike was called off today with the men promising to return to the docks at 8:30 a. m. Tuesday, after 82 days of bitter and bloody industrial strife.

The president's national longshoremen's board announced the end of the strike. The same federal agency will conduct arbitration of the dispute which led to the walkout of 12,000 longshoremen May 5.

By terms of the agreement under which the men will go back, hiring halls will remain in control of the employers but federal and union representatives may supervise their operation to prevent discrimination.

All strikebreakers are to be discharged. There will be no discrimination against the longshoremen for union affiliation or strike activities. The question of wages and hours as well as eventual control of the hiring halls was left to the arbitration proceedings.

The longshoremen's return left only the members of nine other marine crafts still on strike. Some of them were reported wavering today after the dock workers abandoned their cause. Although all maritime unions were pledged to stand together, until all disputes were settled, the longshoremen said they were returning because public interest demanded it.

Much work awaits the 12,000 men who are going back to work tomorrow. Since the longshoremen accepted arbitration a week ago, shipping swiftly returned toward normal. Thousands of tons of freight are piled on the docks. Ships are standing by in harbor ready to stand, awaiting pier facilities. Factories and other industries are demanding materials they had been unable to obtain since early in May.

The Longshoremen's walkout three months ago led to a general paralysis of ocean commerce at the "gateway to the Orient." It also produced rioting in which nine men lost their lives. It led, too, to the second general strike in the history of the United States. The general strike, called by unions in San Francisco, lasted four days. Another effect of the prolonged dispute was a general roundup of suspected Communists in all coast ports and organization of permanent vigilante committees to guard against subversive elements.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—(UP)—Pleas of 166 trucking firms and their 6000 striking drivers for dissolution of martial law went unheeded today by Gov. Floyd B. Olson as his adjutant general announced an "insurrection" has been suppressed.

Simultaneously additional trucks were given military permits to operate. Adj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh said commercial transportation had been restored to 65 per cent of normal. Prior to proclamation of martial law five days ago the strikers had halted virtually every type of trucking.

KOHLER, Wis., July 30.—(UP)—Five hundred national guardsmen enforced peace in America's "model" industrial village today while 6000 union workmen prepared to bury two of their number killed in a bloody strike.

Twenty-six unions of Sheboygan, where the funerals will be held, voted to halt work during ceremonies this afternoon and tomorrow. They demanded arrest and prosecution of Anton F. Bortz, president of Kohler village; E. R. Schuelke, who led 400 deputy sheriffs in an attack on strikers in which two were killed and two score others shot, and village Marshal John Case.

Pickets paraded up and down one side of the town's principal thoroughfare, while National Guardsmen paralleled their march across the street in front of the Kohler bathroom fixture plant.

The village president charged the riot was premeditated by strike leaders.

WOMAN JAILED

Arrested yesterday for speeding 60 miles an hour on Santa Ana boulevard, Miss Eleanor Rogers, president of Kohler village; E. R. Schuelke, who led 400 deputy sheriffs in an attack on strikers in which two were killed and two score others shot, and village Marshal John Case.

The name, Alan Brand, is a pseudonym or "stage name" assumed in order to avoid embarrassment to a number of Mr. Brand's friends," Gerhart said. "He was born in the Orient, and has traveled very widely. He has been a college professor, a soldier and a business man. He holds a Ph. D. degree from a great university, and has contributed articles to scientific and popular journals.

DRIVER "GETS IT" COMING AND GOING

Howard E. Rogers, San Clemente truck driver, apparently has little respect for the motor vehicle laws in Orange county.

Rogers was stopped by California Highway Patrolman Lloyd Groover near San Juan Capistrano at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and charged with speeding 57 miles per hour, passing on the wrong side of the road and failing to have an operator's license.

An hour later, Rogers returned in the opposite direction and again was stopped by Groover, being charged this time with speeding 55 miles per hour, passing on a blind curve and reckless driving.

Rogers will tell his troubles to Judge John Landell of San Juan Capistrano on August 10.

DROUGHT AREA RECEIVES ONLY SLIGHT RELIEF

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—(UP)—Water was "worth its weight in gold" throughout the Southwest today as the great drought continued to levy its terrific toll of livestock and crops.

A heat wave that swept over two-thirds of the nation and claimed upward of 900 lives had been broken with the majority of sections again reporting cooling breezes and light showers.

But the heavy rains needed to restore the soil to normal condition and thoroughly quench the thirst of innumerable thousands of head of cattle was not forthcoming.

Weather forecasters, however, expected the heavy rains to appear soon because nature appeared to be following her usual course in breaking droughts.

Although the sun had ceased to beat down with such great intensity, crops still lacked sufficient moisture. Farmers still were transporting water. Livestock still suffered piteously from thirst.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—Typhoid is stalking hunger and thirst in the drought-ravaged west. The U. S. Public Health service warned today.

Although not yet of epidemic proportions, reports from the suffering region show 128 new cases in the past eight weeks, 174 more than in the same period last year. Authorities here are studying reports from state health authorities carefully. A warning was issued to all those living in drought-afflicted areas and to tourists entering these states.

An indication that the typhoid danger was scattered, rather than general, was seen in the fact four of the eight drought states showed fewer cases than last year. These states were Oklahoma, South Dakota, North Dakota and Indiana. Missouri had more than 100 cases above last year's figure, Texas almost as many additional ones and Illinois about 50. Nebraska had seen new cases, the same as last year.

The figure for Missouri was 190 compared with 82, Texas 496 compared with 398, and Illinois 198 compared with 150.

While not alarmed over the increase in typhoid cases, public health officers pointed out that the danger of the disease was bound to increase with the exhaustion of normal drinking water supplies. In many towns the water shortage has been so recent to show any reflection in rising typhoid rates.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 30.—(UP)—Western New York state took on the aspects of a parched desert today, with crops facing great damage or entire ruin due to drought.

Damage to Erie county crops alone was estimated in excess of $2,000,000. The weather bureau saw no relief in sight.

Many cities and villages in the section are facing a serious water shortage. Farmers in some districts have been hauling water.

Dairymen in Cattaraugus county will be forced to dispose of between 20,000 and 30,000 head of cattle before winter because of the short hay crop.

Incognito Speaker To Address Club

Alan Brand, known as a traveler, scientist, writer, lecturer and philosopher, will be the speaker at the Upton Sinclair for Governor club meeting at the headquarters, 425 North Sycamore street at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. The public is invited, according to the announcement by Harry S. Gerhart, campaign manager.

"The name, Alan Brand, is a pseudonym or 'stage name' assumed in order to avoid embarrassment to a number of Mr. Brand's friends," Gerhart said. "He was born in the Orient, and has traveled very widely. He has been a college professor, a soldier and a business man. He holds a Ph. D. degree from a great university, and has contributed articles to scientific and popular journals.

"Brand is engaged in a state-wide tour in support of Upton Sinclair. His real identity may be a surprise to quite a few people in Santa Ana. In any case, he is well worth hearing," Gerhart concluded.

league of nations, and accepting its obligations thereunder, this house regrets that despite negotiations for a disarmament convention and for European pacts of non-aggression and mutual assistance, his majesty's government should enter upon a policy of re-armament neither necessitated by any new commitment nor calculated to add to the security of the nation, but certain to jeopardize the prospects of international disarmament and to encourage a revival of dangerous and wasteful competition in preparation for war.

Increase in Navy Personnel Sought

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—Secretary of Navy Claude A. Swanson today urged an increase in navy personnel in a letter to Nelson Macy, recently elected first vice-president of the navy league of the United States.

Macy had asked co-operation of the department in making navy day, October 27, a success. His communication emphasized that "navy day will mean much this year to every patriotic American citizen, for we have started an orderly, systematic naval building plan, thanks to the president's wise policy and the passage of the Vinson bill."

Swanson's reply said, in part: "I approve the policy of the league to emphasize the importance of maintaining an orderly, systematic naval building program and also the importance of building up the merchant marine of the United States. For sea power may be defined as a country's strength in combatant ships, merchant marine and bases.

"In addition, I would also suggest the vital importance of maintaining the personnel at sufficient strength to adequately man our combatant units."

As of July 1, 1934, the United States fleet was reported only 83 per cent manned. At the time, 82,500 seamen were on active duty.

CHARGED BY WIFE

leaders "steadfastly refused to see that the market for the 50,000,000 acres, which had been put into crops during the war, had been destroyed by a sudden change from a debtor to a creditor nation.

"They refused to do anything to take this into account either by appropriate changes in tariff policy or by giving farmers centralizing power of government with which to retire gradually the acres producing stuff for a market which no longer existed.

"The old dealers never had any real sympathy with the farmers, anyway. This battle cry seems to be: 'Pile up the surplus again, anyway, but hold the tariff at a point which will make it impossible to dispose of the surplus on the world market.'

Carr Takes Rodeo Title At Salinas

SALINAS, July 30.—(UP)—Clay Carr, colorful Visalia cowboy, was the rodeo king of California today.

Finishing in a grand flourish, Carr nosed out Johnnie Schneider of Livermore for first honors in the annual Salinas rodeo Sunday. Places in the bronco-riding and street-decorating contests gave the Visalia performer a leg on the Jo Mara trophy and cut Schneider off from a third leg on the coveted cup.

ACTION TAKEN IN DRIVE TO END GAMBLING

Sheriff Logan Jackson's war up on gamblers, after "cleaning up" Seal Beach, was carried into Balboa Saturday evening and every "flasher" game in the city was suppressed, just as they were getting set for the Tournament of Lights and the largest crowd of the year.

Facing the sheriff's ultimatum to close immediately—or else—the gaming element took a last regretful look at the gathering holiday crowds—and decided to use discretion. Without exception they closed their doors.

They will remain closed, it is understood, pending a court decision upon petitions for injunctions, which it is said they intend to file today in superior court, in an effort to restrain the sheriff from molesting them. Up to noon no such move had been made.

Seal Beach gamblers' failure to obtain such an injunction has not deterred the Balboa gamblers from making the attempt. It is said, on the theory that their "flasher" boards will not be closed with the Seal Beach tango and chip games.

Court attaches pointed out today, however, that Judge J. O. Moncur, in denying the Seal Beach injunction petition last Friday, ruled that the question of whether the games actually violated the law was not to be considered, the only question being whether the court should interfere with public officials in exercise of their duty. He ruled that the court should not interfere.

The further contention that it is understood the Balboa operators will make, that they are licensed by the city of Newport Beach to operate as they were operating, also was made by the Seal Beach interests in their injunction petition, but the court merely commented that no city has a right to license violations of the law.

The Balboa gamblers, however, did take one lesson from the experience of their Seal Beach brethren with the sheriff, and quietly folded up when his warning was received. The repeated raids upon the Seal Beach resorts were said to have had their effect, and the filing of a felony charge of conspiracy to violate the gambling laws, the weapon with which the sheriff finally "cracked down" upon the Seal Beach gamblers, was a threat which daunted the Balboa element.

The Balboa operators were said to have anticipated the raids against their "penny roulette" games, and were increased against their Seal Beach brethren for arousing attention by their more flamboyant and flagrant activities. Six flasher establishments at Balboa closed at the sheriff's ultimatum, including The Hotcha, Dan's New Place, White City Arcade, Al's Recreation, Workman's and The Palace. Deputy Sheriff Jim Workman and Jim Musick had gone ahead of their fellow deputies and had "played" the games in each establishment, to obtain the evidence for prosecutions, if necessary.

The Rendezvous, formerly operating a flasher game at Balboa, was found to have already closed. Meanwhile, all remained quiet along the Seal Beach front, with all resorts out of business except Larry's Tango parlor, one of the previously raided houses, which now is operating "free," simply in order to hold its patrons in the hope that it will eventually be enabled to reopen as a gaming resort with the stamp of legality, through court decisions upon the pending felony charges.

11 JAILED ON LIQUOR COUNTS OVER WEEKEND

Violation of the liquor laws placed 11 persons behind the bars of the Orange county jail over the weekend, including three for drunken driving and eight for intoxication. Another alleged drunk driver was arrested at Fullerton.

Mrs. Babe Katherine Engleman, 25, 515 South Flower street, was charged with drunken driving after she wrecked her car at Flower and Highland streets at 6 o'clock last night. The car crashed into the curb and was badly damaged. Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes heard the crash in his home nearby and placed the woman under arrest, after which she was taken to the jail by Lutes, John Ryan and Matron Nona Lacy. Mrs. Engleman was slightly out and bruised.

By a strange twist of fate, George Brown, 33, 191 North Tustin avenue, Orange, escaped without a scratch when his car overturned twice at high speed while rounding Orange plaza at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Brown was arrested for drunken driving and brought to the county jail by Officers A. H. Westermann and James Johnson. Brown is said to have started one way around the plaza and then changed his mind. The car skidded about 60 feet and stopped upright after turning over twice, according to witnesses.

Nelson B. Paul, 57, La Habra, was booked at the jail for drunken driving at 10:30 p. m. Saturday by California Highway Patrolman Ben Craig. Paul was later released on a $300 bond. He was involved in a wreck near Buena Park in which no one was hurt. Mrs. Ruby Walstrom, of Brea, was arrested last night by Fullerton police and booked at the Fullerton jail on a charge of drunken driving. She was to be arraigned today before Judge Halsey I. Spence.

Robert E. Warsaw, 25, his wife, Florence Warsaw, 27, both of Santa Ana, and Walter Beck, 34, Oakland, were jailed for drunkenness at 8 a. m. yesterday by Chief John Stanton of Tustin. All were released later after posting $25 bonds.

Henry Van Der Heuvel, 29, Irvine ranch, was arrested for drunkenness at Sixth and Lacy streets at 1 a. m. yesterday and was released from jail on a $25 bond. Trinidad Hernandez, 35, Delhi, was arrested at 408 South Main street by Special Officer R. W. Lockhart Saturday night and booked at the jail for drunkenness.

Officers of coast cities have been asked by Newport Beach police to maintain a watch for the body of Eugene Hooper, 53, of Los Angeles, who is believed to have committed suicide, following the finding of his abandoned sailboat 12 miles from shore Saturday.

Hooper rented the snowbird sailboat at Palm and Bay Front last Thursday and has not been seen since. Fishermen found his boat and towed it ashore. When last seen, Hooper was wearing a brown suit.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO COUNTY BEACHES TO ESCAPE HEAT

A blistering sun in a cloudless sky sent thousands of Southern Californians swarming to Orange county beaches over the week-end, seeking relief from the mid-summer heat in the tang of salt air and in cooling dips in the ocean.

Record-breaking crowds were reported at all county public beaches, the crowd at Huntington Beach and Newport-Balboa dwarfing the crowds which flocked to the beaches on Fourth of July. Thousands of week-end visitors began arriving up and down the coast Saturday for the Tournament of Lights on Newport Bay Saturday night. Tens of thousands of persons slept in the sands all night. Many more thousands poured to the beaches Sunday morning.

The hordes even invaded the sacred precincts of privately-owned beaches. It was reported, in such numbers that private watchmen some instances gave up attempts to keep them out. "No Trespassing" signs were used for camp fires and the people claimed all the beaches, it was reported.

Santa Ana began planning trips to the beaches over the week-end as early as Thursday, the hottest day of the summer, when the mercury in the thermometer at street level in the Knox and Stout store

CATTLEMEN OF COUNTY SEEK DROUGHT RELIEF

Organization of a drought relief committee among cattlemen of Orange county is planned at a meeting called for 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at the L. F. Moulton ranch, El Toro, it was announced today by the Orange County Farm Bureau.

The meeting has been called, it is said, in connection with furtherance of the emergency relief program for cattlemen who are faced with a shortage of feed or water for their stock.

The program, it is pointed out, has a two-fold purpose, to afford relief on account of rainfall shortage, and to reduce the number of beef cattle in the United States. The latter phase of the program is made possible through the AAA as a means of removing the poorer animals from the herds, thus leaving a greater supply of food for the remainder and thereby raising the quality of the herds.

Five members of a drought relief committee are scheduled to be selected at tomorrow's meeting. One will represent the California Wool Growers' association. This representative, R. W. Hull, of Orange, already has been named.

Donald Larter of Huntington Beach, has been chosen to represent the California Cattlemen's association, and Ned Clinton of Garden Grove has been appointed as representative of the dairymen of the county.

Thus there are two committees still to be named, one to represent the cattlemen, and the fifth member to be selected by the other four. Following the selection of these two members, the committee will organize, after which two appraisers are to be appointed.

Application for emergency drought relief may be accepted at the farm advisor's office for the action of the committee, it is announced. Livestock interests requiring assistance are urged to file applications as soon as possible.

FIRE FIGHTERS SAVE HOME AS GARAGE BURNS

Quick work by the state fire truck from Orange, manned by State Ranger Joe Scherman and Chief of Police Al Tomblin of Orange, saved the home of L. A. Bortz, Olive rancher, yesterday noon, when it was threatened by a blaze which destroyed the garage.

The garage, believed to have been ignited from a near-by incinerator, stood almost touching the house. It was a mass of flames when the fire truck arrived. Bortz had managed to get his car out of the garage, but the house was in readiness to ignite.

It was saved, however, when the fire-fighters speedily extinguished the blaze. The garage loss was estimated at about $300.

Scherman today said that fire officials advise the public to keep incinerators at a safe distance from all buildings, as they create a serious fire hazard.

All but 25 of the CCC crew remained on the ground to assist in keeping the blaze under control, Scherman said.

The fire burned over approximately 3000 acres of brush wa-

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON

WASHOUT

Hearings granted to domestic interests, in connection with the foreign trade agreements negotiated by the state department, have turned out to be just what was expected by the discerning. When the bill, giving the president power to negotiate trade agreements involving changes in tariff rates, was first drafted and introduced, it contained no provision to give those industries affected by the agreements a chance to be heard. The Republicans raised a big outcry over this and insisted they would not permit the bill to pass, would filibuster against it, if necessary, unless the bill was amended so as to include hearings.

Democratic leadership hearkened to the plea, and obligingly accepted the reature demand. But it was nevertheless generally believed by those familiar with such things that the hearings would not amount to anything and that they were just a sop thrown to the high tariff party.

The first hearings under the new act are now being held by the tariff commission and the Cuban commercial treaty, and the proceedings seem to justify the predictions as to their value. What the Cuban treaty contains has never been disclosed to congress or the public, and neither Thomas W. Page, vice chairman of the commission presiding at the hearings, nor any other witnesses, what officials will tell others what provisions are. This puts prospective witnesses wholly in the dark because they do not know whether their business is affected or not.

A Connecticut tobacco grower came before the commission and wanted to find out if his product was affected by the terms of the agreement, but Mr. Page told him he could not give him the information. Thereupon, the Connecticut Yankee thought he had better be on the safe side and protest anyhow. Other witnesses have followed his lead and have testified as if their products were not only going to be affected but affected adversely.

Witnesses must tell their own stories because they are not permitted to have attorneys argue their cases for them. The hearings are nominally public, but that does not mean you can walk right in without any formalities. No one is allowed to enter unless he has a slip of paper giving his name, whom and what he represents, and the reason he wishes to testify or be present. Those who imagine there could be a repetition of the old congressional tariff hearings, where witnesses appeared with a battery of legal counsel, filed immense briefs, had rolls of charts, exhibited their wares and made stump speeches to the committee, find the new methods strange and disappointing.

INVESTIGATIONS
Despite adjournment, a considerable number of members of congress could still be occupying themselves with public affairs in ways already marked out for them. Twelve senate investigations authorized by the 73rd congress were continued into the 74th, and eleven house investigations are still alive. With the usual membership of five on each committee, these twenty-three investigations, if all were active, would require the attention of 115 legislators. Most of them, however, have suspended operations for the summer and some are doing the work preliminary to starting up in the fall.

One of the latter sort is the special committee to investigate the munitions industry, which is headed by Senator Nye, of North Dakota. Scores of investigators for this committee are at work gathering material for the opening sessions of the committee later in the year.

Perhaps a half dozen or so of all the committees are carrying on by holding hearings during the summer. Certain ones in the list don't look so awfully serious and give off an odor suggestive of junket. The burdens of the senate committee investigating "conservation of wild life" would appear to be not very depressing nor would the "committee to visit the Philippine Islands" find the work exhausting, since the members were poor sailors.

But, when they all get to work and begin digging into the subjects of oil, crime and criminal practices, bankruptcy, campaign expenditures and even tin, it should not be long before the tide of revelations begins to flow again.

SITTING IN

Since Donald Richberg moved upstairs out of the NRA to become President Roosevelt's coordinator-in-chief, the NRA is being guided through the morass of legal intricacies by a young Californian, still in his early thirties, Blackwell Smith.

Smith came to the NRA from a big New York law firm, started as a member of the legal staff, and, within a year, rose to become assistant administrator for policy and chief of the legal division. Tall, amiable, and hard-working, he is regarded as one of the bright stars in the New Deal's legal firmament.

His name figures prominently in those whispered speculations about "the new commission that will eventually take over both the NRA and the federal trade commission." There are no plans yet for such a commission, but when, as, and if such a board is created, "Blackie" Smith is expected to land there.

NEW YORK By James McKullin REPERCUSSIONS

The drought situation has assumed top rank importance in New York appraisals of business and financial prospects. Insiders predict it will prove the toughest nut the administration has had to crack and are keeping a careful lookout for its effects in three different directions.

First is the relief problem. Even the hardest boiled Wall Streeters admit without argument that the government will have to support the farmers in the affected districts at least until next year. The big question in financial circles is what it will use for money.

As New York sees it, Washington has only three methods of financing available: additional borrowing by the federal government, special appropriations to be met out of special taxes or outright currency inflation. Apart from the risk of impairing federal credit—which is still remote—the chief drawback to the borrowing method is diversion of funds from more productive uses with consequent slackening of industry and employment. Yet most conservatives agree it would be the least painful and dangerous way to foot the bill. They expect it to be tried first and hope—but are by no means sure—that it will prove adequate.

Special taxes are viewed with alarm as ruinous to enterprise. New York sincerely believes that would inevitably result in complete industrial and financial stagnation.

Currency inflation might take the form of further devaluation, aggressive use of the silver powers conferred on the treasury, paper currency to replace bonds as authorized by the Thomas amendment or a combination of these. This prospect scares the bankers stiff but many of them see drastic monetary action as certain and are pulling in their horns as fast as they can.

Any or all of these methods would have unfavorable repercussions on recovery but the attitude here is that it can't be helped.

MASTER
Then there's the effect of the drought on business and purchasing power. New York learns of a growing volume of cancelled orders from the middle west—especially for automobiles and the like. The farmers can't buy and the necessity for relieving their distress cuts down the amount of other purchasing power available for consumers' goods.

This in turn tends to accentuate the spiral of lower production, less employment and a renewed deflation cycle. Also there's the problem of higher food costs for city consumers. Likewise the probability of reduced industrial earnings and depressed security prices—none of which will do the national income any good.

Comment runs that F. D. R. will have to be the master mechanic of all time if he's to keep the recovery machine from stalling.

WALL
Finally, there's the credit angle—what ties into the other two. Cancelled orders mean a tightening up on credit for merchants and manufacturers. In addition, the credit river will be dammed near its source. The more funds are needed for relief—whether provided through government channels or otherwise—the less will be available for other purposes.

Nature has built a wall which the credit expansion program—never a lusty infant at best—will have a lot of trouble hurdling.

PROPHETS
New Yorkers with long memories recall that nearly thirty years ago Theodore Roosevelt told the country—on advice of Forester Gifford Pinchot—that if it didn't quit cutting down trees it would painfully close to normal. It looks droughts. The lumber people's protests gave the laugh to such gloom.

Experts note that "abnormal" dry weather has become so habitual in the past few years as to be some day faced with persistent as if Teddy—and Pinchot—knew what they were talking about.

HELP
Strange as it seems, many small banks over the country are so flush with money they don't know what to do. Uncle Sam is largely responsible. A sizeable share of the postal savings deposits ejected by the big banks has been redistributed among smaller institutions. Also the government has notified a number of depositaries for public works cash that it won't be withdrawn for use for some months to come.

Naturally the banks want to employ these funds profitably—but how? They used to send their excess cash to their New York correspondents to be re-lent in the call money market—but no more. The New York banks have too much trouble keeping their own money busy to bother with the problems of country cousins. Loans are hard to make because of the strictness of FDIC and Federal Reserve examiners—who also regard a large proportion of security investments with an unenthusiastic eye.

PLAN TRIP TO INSTITUTIONS OF M. E. CHURCH

ORANGE, July 30.—Plans for a trip to Los Angeles September 7, to visit the various Methodist institutions there as a part of "Know Your Church Week," were made at a meeting of the First Methodist school class of the First Methodist church, when they were all day guests Friday in the mountain home of Miss Frances Hell at Modjeska.

A feature of the pleasant occasion was a covered dish luncheon served at noon in the cool shade of the numerous trees which grow in Miss Hell's yard. At the close of the meal, home made ice cream was served by Miss Leah Fernald, Miss Nellie Armstrong and Miss Jennie Evans, co-hostesses for the day.

During a short business meeting in charge of the president, Miss Lulu Thornburg, it was announced that Friday's outing would take the place of the regular August meeting.

Sharing the day together were Miss Mary Bogue, Mrs. W. B. Nuckols, Miss Mabel Wing, Miss Lulu Thornburg, Miss Floyd Bradshaw, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Kathryn Northcross, Mrs. Bessie Fuller, Miss Bessie Sawyer, Miss Clara Adams, Miss Bertha Adams, Miss Iva G. Brown, Miss Nellie Armstrong, Miss Leah Fernald, Miss Jennie Evans and Miss Frances Hell.

CHURCHES ARRANGE AUGUST SERVICES

FULLERTON, July 30.—In continuation of their annual program, the ministerial union of Fullerton will hold union meetings each Sunday night during August, the first to be at the Christian church, Sunday, August 5, at 7:30 o'clock, where the Rev. George F. Tinsley, pastor of the host church, will preside, and the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church and president of the ministerial union, will preach the sermon.

The Presbyterian and Christian churches are also continuing their morning services in union, at the Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Mr. Tinsley in charge, and Dr. Graham C. Hunter will be on vacation during the period.

The meetings of the ministerial association churches are to be at the Baptist church August 12, at the Presbyterian church August 19, at the Methodist church August 26, and again at the Christian church September 2, when they will close, and after which churches will start their regular program.

SMOOTH
There's some fancy politics being pulled in New York's charter revision commission. It's pretty evenly divided between two rival factions. One—headed by Al Smith and Samuel Seabury—is battling to abolish useless offices. The other—headed by Frank Prial, who is old guard Tammany in spirit if not in literal fact—is fighting to maintain political jobs.

What looked like a Prial victory in retaining the borough presidents was partly overturned by a switch of two votes. It's significant that both switchers came from Queens—which is most unusual. Insiders remark the Smith Farley teamwork is smooth.

Russia's Czar Orders General Mobilization; France "Withdraws" Frontier Troops

Another chapter in the day-by-day record of events which immediately preceded the World War

BY MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Writer

It's July 30, 1914, and the most calamitous war in the world's history is less than a week away.

Paris, 3 a. m.—President Poincaré, Premier Viviani, and War Minister Messimy, conferring at the Elysees Palace, frame a telegram to St. Petersburg reiterating France's resolution to fulfill her obligations as an ally of Russia, but asking Russia "to take no immediate step which would offer Germany a pretext for mobilization."

St. Petersburg, 4 p. m.—Premier Sazanov, pushed by the general staff and the war ministry, calls on the czar to urge him to order actual differences between Austria and Serbia, England would come to France's aid, there would be no war.

London—Sir Edward Grey declines to do this.

Paris—The cabinet, faced with the problem of not compromising the chance of peace but at the same time of not being entirely unprepared for war, seeks to solve it by an ingenious order withdrawing all troops ten kilometers behind France's frontiers, at the same time perceiving that preliminary mobilization could be carried out behind this barrier if required. Joffre modifies this program by specifying that such withdrawal should not take place where inconvenient.

TOMORROW: European powers oil their military machines.

Police News

The stolen car of Herbert Clark, 1106 South Parton street, has been found, partially stripped, near Ninth and Spurgeon streets, according to police files.

Charged with overloading his truck, Jimmie Zulfra, 20, Fresno has been booked at the county jail by California Highway Patrolman Floyd Yoder.

Andres Clemente, 25, Placentia, was booked at the county jail Saturday evening by Constable Joe Mitchell of Fullerton for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Feliciano Fregoso, 24, Corona camp, was charged with disturbing the peace when booked at the county jail at 1:15 a. m. today by Deputy Constable Stewart of Brea.

Don Grotzbach, 120 East Chestnut street and Leon Lauderbach, 1805 Spurgeon street, had their bicycles stolen Saturday, according to police files.

The stolen car of Alfred Galaz, Long Beach, reported missing from near Birch and Fifth streets Saturday night, was found early Sunday a block away and returned to the owner.

START TRIAL OF DOLFUSS MURDERERS

having been thrown out of the army, and Franz Holzweber, another Nazi accused of taking a leading part in the assassination.

After the prosecution had presented its case against the two men, court was adjourned to permit the defense to prepare its case. If convicted, the two men probably will be the first of many Nazis to be hanged, with the prospect of violent reprisals by their associates.

Holzweber sat with composure as the prosecutor accused him of being the most important ring-leader, who disarmed the guard at the chancellery and prepared the way for its capture by the Nazi rebels.

The prosecutor said Planetta's only defense during the investigation was that he did not enter the chancellery with the intention of killing, but had been under orders not to shoot except in case of absolute necessity.

The prosecutor described the two shots which struck Dolfuss. He said one was a flesh wound and the other close to the spinal column, causing the chancellor to bleed to death. He said Dolfuss lay without medical attention for two hours as his life ebbed away.

Planetta confessed, the prosecutor said, after one of his accomplices, Johann Stein, had told police that Planetta boasted of "how I killed Dolfuss."

REBELS NEAR BORDER

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

RABENSTEIN, Austria, July 30.—(UP)—A battle is imminent between Nazis in control of this frontier village and loyal Austrian troops, a United Press correspondent found on his arrival today.

The Nazis were barricaded in the railroad station and customs building. Sixteen truckloads of soldiers waited a short distance from town ready to open fire.

But they had to wait outcome of negotiations between Austria and Jugo-Slavian authorities over the prospect of permitting the rebels to retreat across the border.

Jugo-Slav frontier guards had provided food for the embattled Nazis until last night. A protest from Austrian officials forced them to cease further aid.

Nazis threatened to kill customs officials and railroad employees if the troops open fire before they are able to cross the frontier to the safety of Jugo-Slavia.

The rebels, who had been chased southward, were making their last stand in Rabenstein. They had entered the village in 16 trucks after ripping up railroad tracks to impede pursuit. It was reported without confirmation that already ten truckloads had slipped over the frontier.

NEW CABINET NAMED

VIENNA, July 30.—Kurt Schuschnigg, professional criminal lawyer of 47, succeeded married Engelbert Dollfuss as chancellor, Prince Ernst Rudiger von Star-

hemberg, Heimwehr leader, continued as vice chancellor. Major Emil Fey, his chief aide, became minister of interior, which includes control of the state police.

A state of alarm was proclaimed during the late night cabinet meeting at which the cabinet was reorganized and around the chancellery were posted strong guards.

A Heimwehr spokesman said the state of alarm was caused by demand of 15,000 men of the Schutz-corp organization that Starhemberg be named chancellor. They announced they would not leave Vienna unless he headed the government.

The Heimwehr, chief of the semi-military forces supporting the government, was known to be dissatisfied because Starhemberg was not chancellor.

Over the week end there was almost no fighting. The government, for the present, had defeated the Nazis. But the victory was indecisive and served more to show the Nazis' strength than the government's.

Careful compilation of casualties in the Nazi revolt indicated between 200 and 250 had been killed and more than 1000 wounded. Of these the government lost 78 killed and 165 wounded.

The cabinet named last night: Chancellor, minister of justice, minister of education and minister of national defense—Kurt Schuschnigg.

Foreign minister—Egon Berger-Waldenegg.

Minister of finance—Karl Buresch.

Minister of commerce—Friedrich Stockinger.

Minister of social welfare—E. Neustaedter-Stuermer.

Undersecretary of national defense—General Wilhelm Zehner.

Undersecretary of public security and justice—Karl Karwinsky.

Police were reorganized. Dr. Michael Skubi, deputy police chief of Vienna, was named general inspector of all police in the country, and directed to co-ordinate all police units into a single group.

Heretofore police of each city have worked independently under the minister of security.

First business of the new cabinet was to clean up the remnants of the Nazi revolt, attempt to make another one impossible, and to try by special military courts the hundreds of Nazis, Socialists and Communists under arrest.

A minister of agriculture is yet to be named. Christian Socialists, Dollfuss' party, control six cabinet posts. Schuschnigg, Buresch and Stockinger all are Christian Socialists. The other four ministers, with five posts are Heimwehr men.

It was said authoritatively the new government would seek to have the big powers obtain four specific guarantees from Germany before it accepted Baron Fritz von Papen as German minister.

The guarantees are: (1) Recognition of Austria's independence; (2) Germany must not encourage Austrian Nazis; (3) the Austrian Nazi legion in Germany must be disbanded; (4) newspapers and radio attacks must cease.

It was indicated the government preferred the powers to make representations because of the diplomatic difficulty of imposing conditions in connection with the appointment of an envoy.

CROWD APPLAUDS THE DILLINGERS

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30.—(UP)—Scenes in Chicago's basement morgue when thousands rioted last week to see John Dillinger's bullet-riddled body were paralleled today as more thousands stormed an Indianapolis theater.

On exhibition was John Dillinger's family—his 70-year-old Quaker father, his sister, his brother-in-law and his half-brother. They expected to receive enough from the thousands of dollars pouring into the box office to pay for John's funeral.

The audiences were sympathetic. "We didn't have enough money to pay for John's burial and decided this was the best way to get it," explained John Dillinger, sr., on the stage.

4 DAIRY LICENSES IN L. A. REVOKED

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—Licenses of four dairy companies to sell milk in Los Angeles area have been revoked by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, effective as of Saturday.

Those affected are: The Golden West Creamery Co., Moneta; Lucerne Cream and Butter Co., Los Angeles; Western Holstein Farms, Inc., Los Angeles, and the Valley Dairy Co., Inc., Glendale.

The firms were charged with failure to make required deductions for maintenance of market services and with failure to pay certain sums to the adjustment fund maintained for all distributors. Wallace issued the revocation order upon the recommendation of Arthur P. Curran, of the AAA license enforcement section, who presided over lengthy hearings both here and in Los Angeles.

Miss Cruickshank Is Seeded Second

EASTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 30.—(UP)—Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles today was seeded No. 1 for the annual Maudslowe club invitation tennis tournament starting here tomorrow. The top ranking was given partly as a result of Miss Babcock's upset victory over the National champion, Helen Jacobs, at Seabright Saturday. Miss Jacobs will not play here. Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., Baroness Maud Levi of Minden, Nev., Mrs. Mary Groff Harris of Kansas City, and Mae Courvoisier of Wichita, are other seeded players.

STERILIZATION MOVE LAUNCHED

McALISTER, Okla., July 30.—(UP)—Oklahoma's drive for a eugenic society swung behind the walls of the state penitentiary here today as the habitual criminal sterilization program was launched.

George S. Winkler, 28-year-old third-term convict, former advertising salesman and printer, volunteered for the test case, went before the state board of affairs to fight the law. The board will rule whether he should or should not be sterilized for the benefit of society.

A tense feeling prevailed in the prison today as more than 300 third-term felons, all subject to sterilization, awaited the verdict on Winkler's fate.

Four months ago the board of affairs ordered 11 women sterilized at the Norman State hospital for insane. All operations were performed within a month, and each was successful.

NEW RED LION GASOLINE CAPTURES POWER OF GUNS

Controlled Power Is Secret of This Improved Motor Fuel ... Instead of Sharp Explosion, It Burns With Bluish Flame, Giving Full Power Push on Piston Head

Up and down the speedways and highways of the Coast, motorists are saying, "Here's the gasoline with power I never dreamed was possible." This time our engineers have added tremendous new energy by reproducing the secret of Controlled Power of the big guns ... a discovery which increased the range of big guns 211 times.

A charge of new Red Lion burns in 1-32 of a second, which is much more slowly than ordinary gasoline. This gives the power a sustained, controlled thrust on the piston to the end of the stroke, instead of a sharp, sudden explosion. That's the secret of great range of the big guns, just as it is the secret of the marvelous new power in Red Lion gasoline.

Fill up with new Red Lion today! Step on the accelerator. Feel the thrill of new power that responds instantly. Test it for mileage, speed, performance and you'll see why it is today's greatest gasoline value.

The Boston police strike of 1919... Carroll, "Maloney had ironed out... made Calvin Coolidge president... and Serg. Daniel Carroll a millionaire.

Serg. Carroll never returned to his station. Big Dan entered the ducking field, became a restaurateur, and soon was in several other rackets, not the least profitable of which was the book-making business.

Carroll collected $500,000 in purses with the heavyweight Jim Maloney, in four years. He banked $200,000 more with the feather, Honey Boy Finnegan, in eight.

Carroll confessed that he has been putting himself in the pants for seven years, or ever since he let the South Boston boys talk him into giving Maloney an opportunity to even his score with Josef Paul Zukoschay.

It was bad enough when Zukoschay, his way purchased out of the navy, moved in on the boys of South Boston. But it was worse when he had the audacity to take the fine old fighting Irish name of Jack Sharkey.

More than that, and you may consider me crazy for thinking so, I have an idea that last Sharkey whiffed deprived Maloney of a shot at Gene Tunney and the championship. And Jim might have gotten over anybody but Sharkey the way he was going then.

"I perhaps was too close to Maloney to see that the gobby Sharkey had his number. Jim previously had split decisions with the sailor, and in their other scrap knocked him down eight times as clear as a whistle in the round in which he was disqualified, for a punch that, to me and many others, appeared as fair as a home run into the center field bleachers.

ATOP THE WORLD It will be recalled that Sharkey stopped Maloney with a terrific right-hand punch to the back of the neck in their final engagement.

"And there we were—on top of the cockeyed world," lamented

VALLEY PLAYER RAIDS WORRY S. C. MANAGERS

Competition of a kind least expected, and from a quarter hitherto discounted, had more than one Southern California night baseball manager uneasy today.

A semi-systematic raid on the playing talent of the proud Southern California association has been initiated by teams of the San Joaquin Valley league which until this season had been satisfied with a humdrum existence.

Louie Neva, star hitter-pitcher of the Torrance club which won the Southern California championship in 1933 and is leading the National league's second-half race, started the "ball rolling" last week.

Neva jumped to Visalia, which previously had lured into the valley several lesser known National league players, notably Dave Webb of Westminster, Joe Koral of Santa Ana and Bruce Harnois of Fullerton.

Visalia's activity spurred other clubs into action. Hanford, which had a big game coming up with Visalia, didn't like to go into such an important test unprepared. So Hanford imported Vann Botts, San Bernardino's pitching manager, who opposed Neva in the Southern California playoff series last year when Botts was with Rialto.

Botts beat Neva, 3-1, and Hanford chuckled at Visalia's embarrassment because Visalia players had no knowledge of Botts' presence in the valley until the lanky whiplash expert walked out to the cage.

Now the tip is out that Porterville, Reedley, Lindsay and Tulare, the other cities in the San Joaquin loop, are grinding for war. If Visalia and Hanford import 'em, why can't we? they ask. Hence, the perturbation among National and American league bosses.

Baseball interest in the valley is said to have hit a new high mark, and the feud between Visalia and Hanford has only increased the enthusiasm. Gate receipts are running high. The players openly split the swag at the end of their game. Few are said to be making approximately $20 a game or $40 a week.

2 SANTA ANAS WIN L. A. CITY TENNIS TITLES

Two Santa Ana tennis players, Lewis Wetherell and Marjorie Lauderbach, dominated the Los Angeles metropolitan tennis tournament, which closed at Griffith park Sunday. The event was open to anybody 17 and under.

Wetherell won the boys' championship, and Miss Lauderbach took the girls' title. Both captured their final matches in straight sets.

Outstanding his opponent in long baseline duels, Wetherell swamped George Bidwell, a U. C. L. A. sophomore, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Lauderbach scored a mild upset when she defeated Jane Stanton of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-3. Wetherell was fortunate in the doubles in which he teamed with Bernard Coghlan of Santa Monica and lost in the final round to Edward Hopkins and Henry Moon, both of Santa Monica, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5.

Orange county will have no representatives in the National Public Parks tournament in the east later this summer.

Bill Grafton and "Hoosie" Chilson of Anaheim were beaten in the finals of the Southern California trials yesterday by Elbert Lewis and Clay Mahoney of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2. Chilson and Katherine Wood of Fullerton were eliminated in the mixed doubles by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Arnold, 7-5, 6-7, 6-0.

BRITISH HAVE NEW GOLF ACE

Pam Barton, 17, Worthy Successor of 3 Champions PUTTS TWO HOURS EVERY DAY

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 30.—Brother, Roger, on the team which she could beat him six times a week and twice on Sunday.

Miss Wilson, champion in 1931, 1932 and 1933, was ruled ineligible this season because of a connection with a sports goods house, so it can be seen that if Miss Barton is another Leitch or Wilson, America's patience is in for further trying.

Practically unknown a year ago Miss Barton went to the final round of the championship this year with sound victories over half a dozen noted players. Then inexperience caught up with her. The huge gallery and the realization that she was but one step away from the title sent her away from the first tee highly nervous, and her game went to pieces.

She proved she was no flash in the pan, however, by whipping practically the same field at Le Leitch three or four champions. The women's British Amateur, which she won, was abandoned during the war years, just when she was on top of her game. Miss Wetherell, after thrice lifting the cup, quit because she could get no competition. If she had continued there is no telling how far she was definitely superior to her rivals.

Even today there are few men in England capable of holding her even, and I heard it said at St. Andrews before the cup matches that it was a shame to see her

HARRIS THINKS RED SOX BEST TEAM IN A. L.

CHICAGO, July 30.—(UP)—"Bucky" Harris, manager of the baseball club that "Jack" built despite many disappointments on the field, still thinks he has the best club in the American league—on paper.

Harris was talking baseball—and he talks a good game—on a western swing with the Boston Red Sox. From a point well down in the first division, Harris was talking about a pennant for the Sox this fall.

"No fooling," Bucky smiled his boyish grin, "we're going up. After a faltering start we're gaining speed, and I expect the club to finish strong."

Harris, who won two pennants for the Washington Senators back in the mid-'20s, believes he has the best club he ever managed. Hard luck and bad breaks, he believes, have kept the team down.

He took over a "tailor made" club last spring after five years' worry as the ringmaster of the Detroit Tigers. Baseball men figured Tom Yawkey has bought a pennant for Harris.

"On paper," Harris said, "we had the pennant last winter. We had the best pitching staff in the league—on paper. I took a look at the talent we had assembled and figured that we were a good bet to finish on top."

LOTT. STOEFFEN DEFEAT HUGHES. LEE IN 4 SETS

WIMBLEDON, England, July 30.—(UP)—America clung to its slender chance of regaining the Davis Cup today by winning the one doubles match of the challenge round with England.

Forced into extra games in the first set, George Lott of Chicago and Lester Stoeffen of Los Angeles went on to win 7-5, 6-0, 4-6, 9-7, over the English combination of George Patrick Hughes and Harold Lee.

The challenge round now stands at two victories for England and one for the United States. The outcome will be determined tomorrow when the two final singles matches are played. England can retain the historic trophy by winning either of these matches. America needs both to regain it.

The final singles matches will pit Frank Shields against Fred Perry, England's ace, and Sidney Wood against H. W. ("Bunny") Austin, No. 2 man of the British squad.

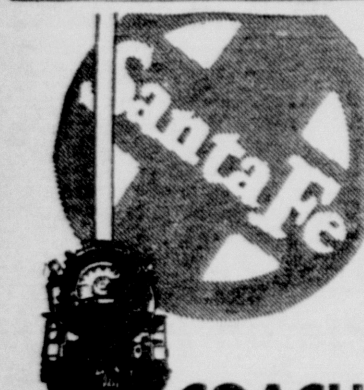

Perry Heavy Favorite While Wood is conceded a fair chance against Austin, Shields would score an abiding upset if he were to top Perry who is rated as the world's No. 1 amateur.

Lott opened the doubles by holding service with three aces. Lee also held his service, thanks to two brilliant middle court drives by Hughes. The English broke Stoeffen in the third game, scoring three perfect lobes. The Americans broke Hughes in the fourth on a pair of stunning placements from Stoeffen. The next four games followed service in play featured by brilliant exchanges at the net. The score in games was then 4-1.

Lee used a tricky, underhand service which baffled the Americans, in winning the tenth game to make the set stand at 5-1. Stoeffen fired three blistering services to win the eleventh game and Lott made three beautiful volleys to break Hughes in the twelfth game for the 7-5 win.

U. S. Wins Love Set The Americans loved through the second set which they won at love. Lott, overwhelmed Lee and Hughes with his service in the opening game of this set. The Americans stormed the net to batter down the opposition, breaking Lee in the second. They went to 3-love when Stoeffen served wickedly, and made it 4-love breaking Hughes. Two smashes by Stoeffen were responsible for this game.

Lott's high-bouncing service made it 5-love and then the Americans struck a snag. Lee was serving and the British were leading at 4-love, but Lott's great net play pulled the game to deuce and finally the victory.

MUNICIPAL GOLFERS IN QUALIFYING TEST

PITTSBURGH, July 30.—(UP)—One hundred and eighty-four leading municipal golf course players from the United States and Hawaii tied off today on the difficult South Park course in quest of the National championship.

Carl Kauffmann of Pittsburgh, only player to win the National title three times, will be in the first threesome in today's 18-hole qualifying round to determine the 64 who will battle for the title in match play. Another similar round will be played tomorrow and match play will start Wednesday.

Par 72 on the South Park course only recently was broken in tournament play and has not yet been bettered in a qualifying round. Kauffmann, Pittsburgh district favorite to take the title, has equalled par and presently holds both Allegheny county and South Park championships.

Among the contenders for the title which Charles Ferra, San Francisco, will defend are Scotty Campbell, Seattle, Northwest amateur champion; Arthur Armstrong, 17-year-old player from Hawaii; and Bob Miller, Jacksonville, Fla., 1932 champion.

MISS KIGHT THRICE VICTOR AT N. C. A. A.

DETROIT, July 30.—(UP)—Lorraine Kight, Homestead, Pa., today emerged from the N. A. A. U. swimming meet at River Rouge pool with three titles, winning the third, the 880-yard free style race, yesterday.

She previously won the 440-yard and mile free style championships. Her 15 points in the three triumphs aided greatly in winning the team championship for the Carnegie Library club of Homestead, with 81 points.

Other finishing teams and their points included: Los Angeles, A. C., fifth, 8.

Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, Los Angeles, retained her platform diving title, scoring 90.64 points to beat Cornelia Glessen, New York, with 81.07.

M'CREDIE, BEAVER MANAGER, PASSES

PORTLAND, Ore., July 30.—Walter McCredie, 56, manager of the Portland baseball team of the Pacific Coast league, died here Sunday on the eve of a scheduled baseball game here in his honor.

For weeks McCredie had been unable to be with the Portland team. After managing Portland for a number of years McCredie went into semi-retirement and only this year returned to baseball activity.

No Walter McCredie night ever was held for the kindly old Scot during the years he turned out Coast League championship teams and developed many major league stars.

Baseball ardent planned this big baseball banquet for him tomorrow night, but the flowers were ordered too late. However, McCredie was cheered in his last days with news of the preparations under way for the game.

Ebony Club Ring Team To Appear At County Arena

The Orange County Athletic club, through Matchmaker "Bud" Rutledge, was rounding up the ablest amateurs at its command today for Thursday night's all-star boxing tournament with the powerful Ebony club stable of Los Angeles.

Regarded as the No. 1 team in Southern California, the Ebony club squad will be making its fourth appearance here where it has never failed to give a winning account. The colored battlers last showed at the O. C. A. C. the afternoon of July Fourth, taking 7 out of 12 matches.

Rutledge said Bill Wana, Westminster middleweight, would meet Bill Watkins in the main event.

Winter came and Yawkey took the plunge. He bought Bob Grove, "Rube" Walberg and Max Bishop over the "bargain counter" from Connie Mack for $150,000. He signed another big check to get Carl Reynolds from the Browns.

ROWE HERO OF TWO DETROIT VICTORIES

NEW YORK, July 30.—(UP)—Linwood ("Schoolboy") Rowe, pitcher for the Detroit Tigers who beat the Chicago White Sox Saturday during a stormy period in the eighth inning of the first game. He checked the Sox onslaught, then banged out a homer in the ninth to win the game. If that didn't entitle him to a bonus, he took White's batting chore in the nightcap, going in as a pinch-hitter.

Baseball was his whole life, and he was crushed with disappointment when he returned to baseball only to have a cellar team. When he was able to purchase the players he wanted Portland won five pennants and made money. Pennants came in 1906, 1910, 1911, 1913 and 1914.

Detroit's win could scarcely be called a pitching classic. Thirty-seven hits were recorded including six home runs—two for Zeke Bonura—seven doubles and four triples, and it was Rowe's bat, not his pitching arm, that won, 16-15. Chicago took the second game, 6-4, but Detroit increased its lead to a full game. There were 21 homers registered in both leagues, 15 in the American.

The Yanks lost a chance to go back into the lead when they succumbed to the Athletics, 6-3.

LOS ANGELES CLUB REGAINS P. C. LEAD

The Los Angeles Angels occupied a familiar position in the Pacific Coast league today—the top rung of the ladder. They had a two-game lead.

After a five-week climb, the Angels reached the top Sunday by taking a doubleheader from the San Francisco Seals, completing their rout of the former leaders. In the entire series of seven games the Seals won only one.

Seattle finished a successful week by splitting a twin bill with Sacramento, the Indian victory being their sixth over the Senators. Portland took a series from Oakland, four games to three, and the Mission Reds nosed out Hollywood by the same margin.

Stoefen held his own service in the 11th game and the Americans were within two points of match in the 12th but Hughes pulled it out with two smashes. Lott double-faulted to lose the 13th game. The English then led at 7 to 6. Lott and Stoefen broke Lee in the 14th game which was featured by smashing net play.

DRUM CORPS IN FANCY DRILL EXHIBITION AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 30.—Blare of trumpets and beat of drum Saturday evening heralded the arrival of not less than six Legion drum corps, which organizations, after marching through the business section, staged a fancy drill exhibition at the school grounds. Participating in this event were the drum corps of Santa Ana, Anaheim, San Bernardino, San Pedro, Torrance and the Benjamin Bowie post of Los Angeles, the latter a colored Legion post.

Following the drill exhibition, the visiting Legionnaires, here for a fifth area caucus, were entertained at the Legion hall with a buffet supper, followed by a dance at the Laguna Beach ballroom.

Sunday morning the delegates to the caucus were guests at a "chiselers' breakfast," given at the Legion hall which in quantity and quality of culinary offerings compared favorably with the spread of the best breakfast clubs.

Credit for the success of the undertaking is regarded as being due to the work of Commander Don Goddard, assisted by a special committee of local Legionnaires made up of Don Heilig, Harold Reed, Glenn Watkins, E. T. Cress, P. C. Davis, W. F. Pettit, Floyd Case, R. K. Wilson, Sam Durand, Ed Franks and E. P. Gowan.

CAN KNOW GOD THROUGH SON. PASTOR SHOWS

The Rev. C. D. Hicks of the Christian and Missionary Alliance spoke last evening on the subject, "What and Where is God?" He took for his text John 4:24, "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

He said in part: "It is as easy to see God as it is to see any other person. But some will say, 'God cannot be seen' and they quote John 1:18, 'No man hath seen God at any time.' And yet I say it is as easy to see God as it is to see your mother. In fact no man hath ever seen his mother. He has heard her loving and gentle voice as she hath soothed his sorrows and he has felt her tender touch in time of suffering. He has seen her affection as it lighted her kindly eye; but he has never seen his lovely mother, for she, like the God who made her, is also a spirit. Those eyes that looked so kindly on you at times of trouble, those hands that so lovingly ministered to you and that bent, worn-out form which you followed one day to the city of the dead, and through tears said 'Good bye' was not mother. That was only the instrument that God gave to your mother through which she might reveal herself to you and minister to your needs. It was given her that you might know a mother's love."

"While the Bible is very clear that 'no man hath at any time seen God' it does not indicate that we cannot know God. In fact, the opposite is true; we can, and should know God as actually as we know our mother. If we read the full passage in which John declares that no man ever saw God, he definitely states that we know Him through Christ. 'As you know your mother and her love only through the body which God gave her for that purpose, just so God hath chosen two definite instruments through which you may know Him, and know Him as clearly as you know your mother. First, the Psalmist tells us, 'The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth His handiwork.' and second, Jesus very clearly declares that He is that other instrument.

"At one time Phillip said to Him, 'Lord show us the Father and it sufficeth us.' Jesus then answered him thus, 'Have I been so long a time with you and have you not known, Phillip, he that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then shew us the Father?' He then continued, 'The words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself; but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works.'"

"You will therefore see that just as your mother dwelt in that frail body and functioned and made herself known to you, just so God dwelt in Christ in order to show us His love, compassion, grace and power. And we can know Him as clearly as we knew our mother."

"But does some one say, 'I never saw Jesus and how could I thus know God?' Christ also clearly answers this question: 'He that hath my commandments and keepeth them he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father and I will love him and will manifest myself to him.'"

Christian Science

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science churches. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from Psalms: "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon were the verses from the Gospel of John, "Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Instruct the sick that they are not helpless victims, for if they will only accept Truth, they can resist disease and ward it off, as pos-

UNREST AND CRIME TRACED TO JANGLED HOMES AND VIEWS ON MATRIMONY, DECLARES PASTOR

When there is unhappiness in the home, then the whole world goes wrong, said the Rev. C. M. Aker, of Spurgeon Memorial church, in his sermon at the union church service Sunday evening at the First Baptist church. His subject was "The Message of Jesus About the Home."

Much of our modern unrest and crime can be traced to jangled and disrupted homes; also much of religious failure among the young is due to conditions at home, declared the minister. Modern views on marriage encouraged by such as Judge Ben Lindsey, Bertrand Russell and others, is behind much of the break-down in the home, he said.

"It is essential to our happiness and well-being that we undertake to find out the mind of Christ in regard to the home," said the Rev. Aker. "Much of our modern unrest and unhappiness is due to the break-down of many of our modern homes. When there is unhappiness in the home then the whole world goes wrong. If there is happiness there we can face the world with all its depressions with a smile."

"Much, also, of the modern crime is traceable to this same cause. The vast majority of the criminals in our prisons are beardless youths who come out of jangled and disrupted homes. And here, too, is to be found the reason for many of the religious failures of the young who unite with our churches and soon make a wreck of their Christian faith. The environment of home often furnishes no friendly assistance in Christian nurture."

"The causes of the break-down in our modern homes are not far to seek. One cause is the light and frivolous way in which many young people these days look upon the marriage vow. The sacredness upon marriage has too often made sport of, due to the teaching of Judge Lindsey, Bertrand Russell and other modern writers, as being old fogy notions of the Victorian age. And as a result we have our courts crowded with divorce proceedings."

"The change in the status of women these days has had no little effect on the modern home. The woman is, in the very nature of her place as mother, the center around which the home revolves. The economic field is open to her as never before. She is taking her place side by side with men in all the trades and professions, with the result that if she is married and has a family they must be largely cared for by others."

"But the question comes: does Christ have any remedy for the plight in which the modern home finds itself? When we turn to His teachings we find that there is abundant light if we will only avail ourselves of it."

"He certainly placed his sanction upon the sacredness of the marriage vow when he said in Matthew 19:4-6, 'Have you never read that he who created them from beginning made them male and female; they two shall be one flesh? What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder.'"

"In that same connection he also placed sanction upon the high place which children held in the home when he said after taking the little children into his arms, 'Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the Kingdom of heaven.'"

"And in fact his whole conception of the 'Kingdom of God' was patterned after the home and family life. And the home and the family is the one fundamental unit of society. While it has a duty and an obligation within the family yet the family as a whole has a social duty and obligation to the rest of society. It is not to be an end in itself, but there rests on it the responsibility to become the highest and best possible in order that it may do its share in bringing in the Kingdom of God."

Drawings occur among boys between the ages of 15 and 19 more often than in any other group.

tively as they can the temptation to sin. . . . The fact that Truth overcomes both disease and sin restores a healthy stimulus to the body, and regulates the system. It increases or diminishes the action, as the case may require, better than any drug, alternative, or tonic."

CRUCIFIXION IS UNAPPRECIATED SAYS PREACHER

The world had failed to appreciate the purpose of the Lord's sacrifice on the cross, declared Adjutant I. J. Torgerson, of the Salvation Army, in his sermon yesterday, his text taken from Ephesians 3:19, "And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God."

"We are exhorted in the Word of God to know the love of Christ."

said the speaker. "To some extent we can understand and appreciate human love, but we have but a small conception of the great love of Christ. 'Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and being found in fashion as a man he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the Cross.'"

"It might be well for each one of us to ask ourselves the very important question, do we know the love of Christ? Certainly He did not die just for the fun of dying, but there was a purpose, and it does seem that we have failed to appreciate that purpose."

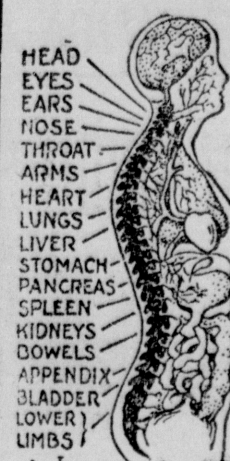

"We hear so much talk about Christianity and Christian service, we become so accustomed to hearing, that we have lost the real significant meaning of consecrated service. We are ready to do everything else but that which we should do, hence we have lost the blessing and power God intended His people to have. Therefore in order that we might know the love of Christ there must be a genuine conversion in our lives."

"You remember Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews, once came to Jesus by night, and said unto Him, 'Tabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him.' Jesus answered and said unto him, 'Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom

BLOW-OUTS COME WHEN YOU LEAST EXPECT THEM

NEW GOLDEN PLY TIRE SAVES MOTORISTS' LIVES

—Gives Months of Extra Mileage—FREE!

"PAPER" guarantee

"Paper" guarantees may put new tires on your car, but they won't save your life if your tire blows out going 40, 50 or 60 miles an hour. Play safe. Get the new Goodrich Silvertown—the only passenger car tire in the world that guarantees you Golden Ply blow-out protection, plus a full 12 months (business use, 6 mos.) guarantee against all road hazards except punctures, fire, theft or abuse from running flat.

EVERYBODY'S happy. Car running smooth as a top. Roads perfect. But, don't forget, it takes more than that to keep you from having a blow-out—especially if a treacherous heat blister has started to form inside the tire.

What causes blow-outs

Today's high speeds of 40, 50, 60 generate terrific heat inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows until, sooner or later, BANG! A blow-out. To protect motorists, every new Goodrich Silvertown has the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This remarkable invention resists heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form inside the tire. The great, unseen cause of blow-outs is prevented.

Racing daredevils tested out the Golden Ply at breakneck speeds, on the world's fastest track. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without the Life-Saver Golden Ply failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run.

Goodrich Safety Silvertowns with the Life-Saving protection of the Golden Ply give you both freedom from blow-out fears and months of extra mileage! And, what's more, they cost no more than other standard tires.

This insignia indicates that The B.F. Goodrich Company complies fully with the tire manufacturing industry code.

FREE! This handsome Safety League emblem with red crystal reflector to protect you if your tail light goes out! No obligation. Just join Silvertown Safety League at your Goodrich dealer. Endorsed by Traffic Officials.

Crowds Throng Harbor District For Lights Pageant

PASADENA GETS CUP FOR BEST PARADE FLOAT

A huge crowd of spectators that blackened the shores of Newport Bay thrilled to a pageant of scintillating beauty Saturday night as the twenty-sixth annual Tournament of Lights burst forth in splendor. Lights of all colors danced and glittered on the waters of the bay. Stately floats floated before an admiring multitude as Newport Beach played host to its largest crowd.

As a bomb thundered over Balboa, and a star shell burst in the sky, the parade moved slowly out into the black waters of the bay, and a cheer went up from the crowd, some of whom had been waiting hours for its start. Music of all sorts, from the silvery tinkle of Spanish guitars to the martial rhythm of drum corps and bands, accompanied the parade of pageantry on its course.

Santa Barbara's huge white swan led the Corinthian division of over a hundred entries, two cygnets six feet long trailing in the wake of the large float. The Santa Monica civic float of an outrigger canoe with accompanying surf board paddlers led the division of civic and commercial entries, from the North side of Lido Isle. Over it all the giant anti-aircraft lights off the coast artillery checked the sky.

Near the Santa Monica entry came the glittering entry of Pasadena, long expert in the matter of parades, and winner of the handsome sweepstakes prize for best float of the tournament.

Fullerton's entry depicting the friendly spirit of the city, was second prize winner in the community division, was followed closely by the third prize winner, the San Bernardino entry, advertising the national orange show.

The Richmond float, most representative of all, captured first prize for commercial entries, with its cellophane glittering display of beautiful girls and artistic arrangement. The South Coast Boat Builders, with a unique entry featuring speed boat and three aquaplaning beauties, took second place. The Standard Oil announcing car float was third.

Huntington Beach, with its Queen of the beaches, riding in state surrounded by her court, was judged the best of the civic entries, followed by the Corona Del Mar float, and the Anaheim presentation depicting the popular comic character finishing third.

Homes and piers lining the bay were a blaze of lights, as home owners view for prizes offered for best lighted homes and piers. Robert Pitzer, 1130 Bay avenue, was awarded first prize for his decorated home and pier, second and third going to Stanley Smith Jr., 1114 East Central, and Gordon Cray, 1515 East Bay. For the best lighted home, Roscoe Steinhilber, 811 Lido Blvd, took first, followed by G. E. Halderman, 602 South Bay Front, and E. C. Haskell, 1003 Bay Front.

Prizes for the Corinthian division, captained by J. A. Beck of Balboa Island, were awarded separately. In class 1, for canoes, Ruth Henthorne took first, with Eloise Marshall second, and Bob Gray third. In class 2, for rowboats, Jean Marshall was awarded first, with Mary Wlk second and Warren Kettel third.

In the class for sailboats under 20 feet Janet White was given first prize, followed by Robert Hubbard, second, and George Mortimer third. Fourth class, sailboats over twenty feet, the entry of Robert Hollins was adjudged the best, with Fred Hermon and Fred A. Hough second and third.

Class five prizes, for motor boats, went to Betty Bronson, first, Commodore Chas. E. Donnelly, second, and Allen Walker third. In the cruiser class Ben S. Hunter was placed first, Wilbur Derthick second, and G. A. Brinkman third. The judges committee announced that special awards in this division will be made later.

Some disappointment was expressed by the scores of thousands of spectators lining the shores of Lido Isle where news reel cameras took shots of the parade, that only the main division of 13 float passed this point. The other division joined the line of march farther down the bay.

LEGION GROUPS HOLD 5TH AREA MEET AT BEACH

Deportation of aliens found to be connected with the communist movement and with other activities having for objective the overthrow and undermining of the American government and its institutions, registration of all aliens and the strengthening of the nation's air defenses on the Pacific coast were among recommendations contained in resolutions adopted at the pre-state convention caucus of the Fifth Area of the American Legion, representing some 70-odd posts in Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties, held yesterday at Laguna Beach.

G. W. Stevens, area commander, of Calexico, presided over the session which, in addition to some 150 delegates, was attended by several hundred visiting Legionnaires and their wives. Because of the unexpected large attendance, it was necessary to change the meeting place from the local Legion hall to the grammar school auditorium, on Park avenue. Charles Mason Jr. of La Jolla, area adjutant, acted as secretary.

Three resolutions, two dealing with dues and one with eligibility for membership, were rejected by decisive votes. One of the former, presented by the Laguna Beach post, called for a reduction in per capita contribution to state and national headquarters and for a trimming of salaries paid departmental and national executives. On the grounds that undesirable individuals may gain a foothold in the organization, a resolution opening the ranks to honorably discharged veterans of allied armies, now citizens of the United States, was voted down.

Mrs. Marion Fisher, commander of the Women's Legion post of San Diego, was endorsed for the office of vice department commander at large, and Dixon W. Tubbs, horticultural commissioner of Orange county, was given an endorsement for the office of delegate-at-large to the national convention to be held at Miami. These offices are to be voted on at the state convention to be held next month in San Francisco.

A difference of opinion as to the advisability of the area organization endorsing Frank Belgrano of San Francisco for the office of national commander was reflected by various speakers, a motion being made to table a motion for endorsing the former department commander. Following a demand for a roll call, it was found that the Belgrano forces were in the majority, and an endorsement was voted.

Under heading of committee reports, W. A. Huggins of San Diego stated that plans are being made for the establishment of a school for crippled children in Balboa Park in San Diego, to be located in one of the exposition buildings following the termination of the exposition planned next year.

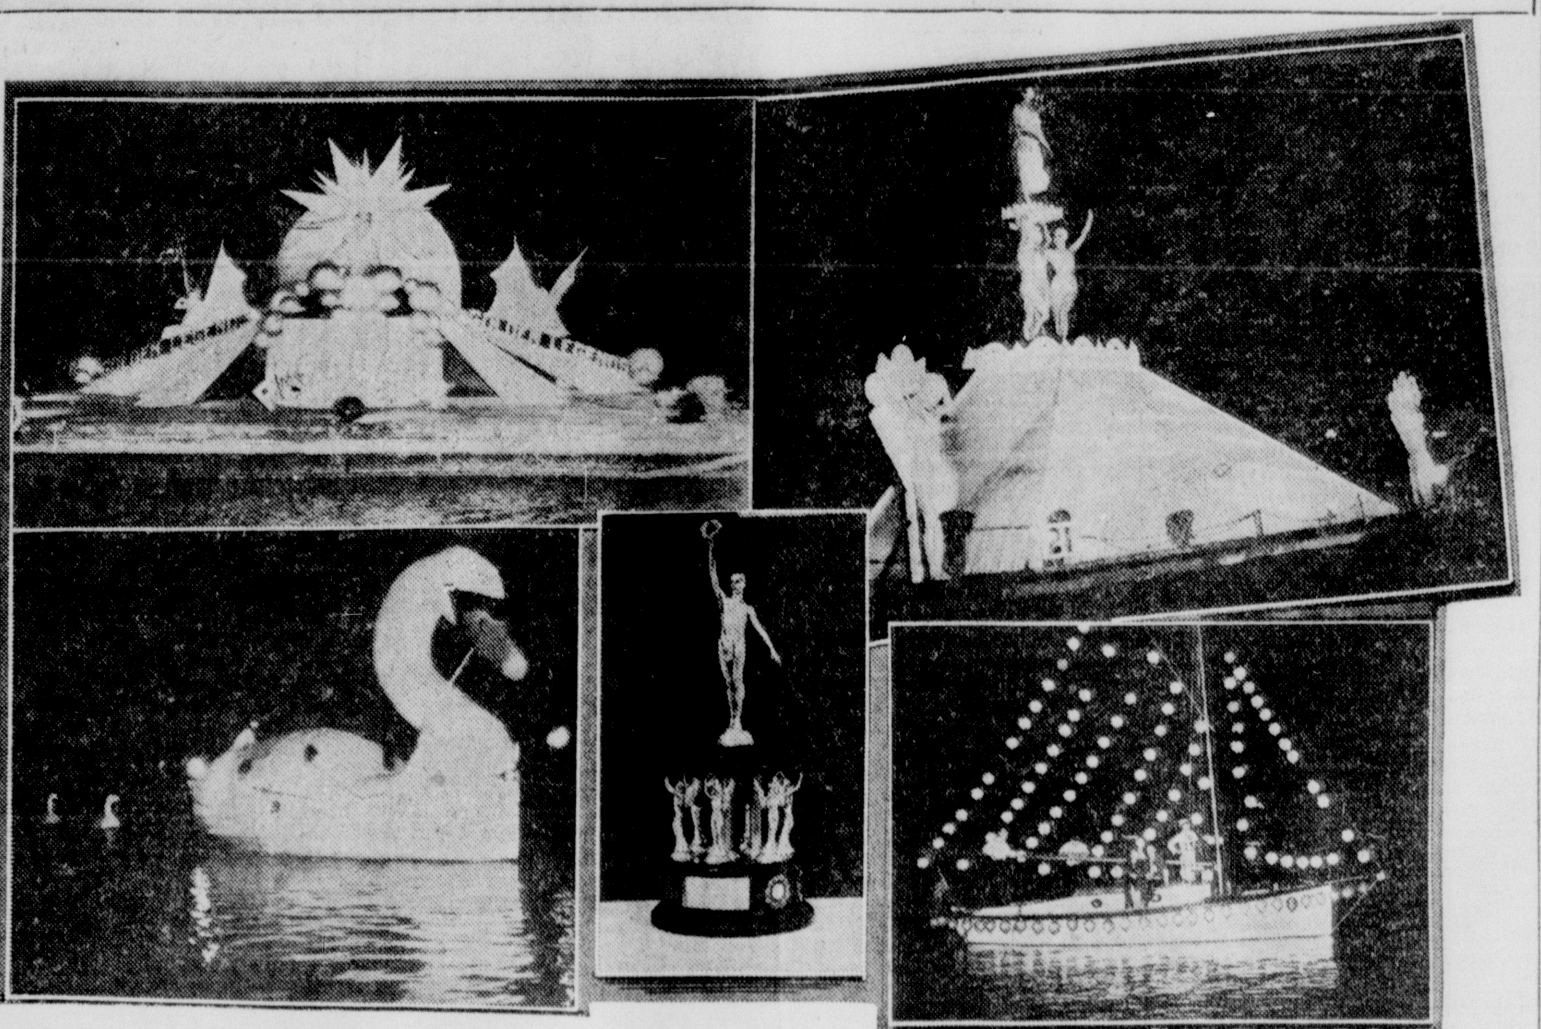

Charles E. Nice, county veterans' service officer of El Centro stressed the need of additional hospitalization facilities for disabled veterans. He pointed to the rapidly increasing number of mental cases among veterans and urged that this phase be given serious consideration by the Legion in order to secure the adequate hospital facilities.

Speaking for the good of the organization, W. L. Huggins of the San Diego police post, deplored the indifference shown by the general public to the growing danger of pernicious communist propaganda carried on in this country, and urged that the Legion take the leadership in its eradication. The speaker, however, voiced disapproval of activities on the part of so-called vigilance committees and recommended principle of law and order, call upon the constituted authorities for the suppression of anti-American propaganda and activities.

Police Checking Robbery Report

Arrested on investigation of robbery after an asserted fight on a handball court at 2028 West Fifth street, Christopher Acuna, 24, 208 Daisy street, was booked at the county jail yesterday morning by police.

According to Estaven Llevas, Acuna called him to play handball at 5 a. m., struck him over the head with a brick and robbed him of $25. Acuna has denied taking the money and officers were unable to locate any money in his home.

Llevas was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital and later removed to the Orange County hospital for treatment of a severe head wound.

Parents' Anniversary Is Celebrated by Family Circle

There was an especially joyous atmosphere prevailing yesterday evening in the Joseph P. Smith home, 120 South Broadway, as the family circle celebrated the anniversary of their parents' thirty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Invitations to the gala affair had been dispatched by the sons, sons-in-law and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and a hundred or more close family friends responded with enthusiasm, although unaware of the anniversary nature of the party until their arrival at the Smith home.

The hours from 5 to 8 o'clock had been designated on the invitations, and there was a constant succession of callers until far beyond the latter hour. Mr. and Mrs. Smith occupied prominent places in the receiving line. Mrs. Smith gowned in jade green crepe with beaded lace yoke, and wearing a corsage cluster of coral pink begonias with maidenhair fern. With them in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Patterson, Miss Elizabeth Smith and Messrs. Joseph W. and Don W. Smith.

The home was vivid with flowers, some of which were sent by friends aware of the significance of the day. Among the gift baskets were deep red roses, baby daisies in exquisite pastel hues and stiffly formal zinnias glowing in their deep jewel hues.

In the dining room, to which the guests were bidden informally, were appropriately centered with floral decorations. Bridal slippers, were served with cake, crisp little home-made wafers, nuts, mints and coffee. There was a curtain of green fern back of the table with its beautiful, lilies, bridal flowers, tapers and its silver coffee service, and standing in sharp relief against this green background were a tiny bride and groom, suggesting the wedding of July 29, 1898, in Oklahoma. Mrs. Albert Blake, a sister of Mrs. Smith, presided at the coffee urn, while assistance in serving was lent by Miss Eleanor Richards, Mrs. Dorothy Selway and Joe McKee, as well as by the daughters in their capacity as hostesses.

As guests made their selection from the silver trays of dainties, they returned to the living room or sought the airy solarium or the wide porch.

Aside from the special significance of the occasion, it was an opportunity for friends of the family to greet Mr. and Mrs. Smith. For Mr. Smith's duties as state real estate commissioner take them to Sacramento and to other points in the state so much of the time that they have much less contact than usual with Santa Ana friends. In the ebb and flow of informal conversation of the evening, Mr. Smith, discussing their wedding day, reminded the guests that Oklahoma at that time was known as the Indian Territory.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker, 435 South Birch street, were members of a party leaving Saturday night for Saddle Bag lake, east of Yosemite, to spend a week or ten days. Others in the group included Mr. and Mrs. Wilkes Luces, Victorville, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hill and sons, Billie and Bobby, Wintersburg; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hill and children, Dale and Betty, Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. George Harding and daughter and sons, Barbara, Norman, Donald and Gene, of Boise.

Dr. Hubert B. Nall and his son, Hubert Jr., 2027 North Ross street, are spending the week at Bishop on a fishing trip. They are accompanied by Dean Collier, 922 Orange avenue. During their absence Mrs. Nall and her daughter, Frances, are enjoying a stay at Catalina. The family is expected home next week.

Mrs. Emma Pretzman has just returned from a month's stay in the east. Her trip was occasioned by the death of her brother, Mr. Ahlunfeld of Chillicothe, Ill. Other places visited by Mrs. Pretzman were Chicago, Ill., Lincoln and Omaha, Neb., and Sulphurdale, Utah.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hooven, 1225 North Garney, and daughter, Miss Jane Hooven, returned Saturday from a month's stay at Seattle, Wash., where they visited relatives and friends. They returned by the coast route and through the Redwoods.

Homesteaders Lodge

Members of Homesteaders Life association entertained visitors from Uplands, Ontario and San Bernardino at a dinner meeting held last week.

Talks were given by Mr. and Mrs. Clark, San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. Upland, and Mrs. Anna B. Jones, Ontario. Mrs. Jones, a previous resident of Santa Ana, was welcomed back by many of her old friends.

Initiation was held during the evening with the drill team taking charge of the ceremony.

Plans were made for a steak bake to be held at Huntington Beach Aug. 3 at 7 p. m. and which is expected to rival in pleasure, the wafers bake held during the past week on the shore at Newport Beach.

Many Friends Attend 80th Birthday Party

Since coming to this city 30 years ago from Illinois, J. Albert Ketscher has lived at 702 Orange avenue, a pleasant home which was the scene of an enjoyable affair yesterday afternoon in celebration of his 80th birthday anniversary.

The celebrant's two daughters and son, Mrs. Gus Karvan of Los Angeles, Mrs. Joseph Edgerton of Banning and George Ketscher of Santa Ana, were hosts at the event, assisted by Miss Laura Zeigler, a life long friend of the family.

From 2 to 6 o'clock in the evening, open house was held, with many friends of Mr. Ketscher calling to offer congratulations. Refreshments of ice cream and birthday cake were served amidst a colorful array of flowers many of which had been sent by friends to show their interest in the anniversary.

Mr. Ketscher came to California to retire, having been a successful farmer in the east. He is the only surviving member of an interesting German family. He left his native Germany at the age of 13 years, making his first home in America in a German settlement in Illinois.

He is a member of Santa Ana Elks' lodge, spending some time at the clubhouse almost every day.

Among those present to share the celebration with Mr. Ketscher were Messrs. and Mesdames Henry Siefert, Harvey Siefert and daughter, Betty Joe, Fred Siefert and son, Billy, Lou Best, Earl Young and son, Max, B. Woodard, C. H. Rash, A. J. Boyd, E. C. Wilson, Dale Wilson, Forbs, Frank Was, F. Heine, F. M. Thomas, George Platt, Drysdale, A. S. Wright, George Ketscher and sons, George Jr., Donald, Morris and Fred, H. R. Brinkerhoff, H. S. Atchison, Miss Marian Young, Mrs. Thompson, Miss Marie Rash, Mrs. Warren, Dr. and Mrs. L. Was, Dr. and Mrs. John McAuley, Mrs. Wright, Dr. Fred Wright, Miss Laura Zeigler, Mrs. Laura Eaton, Miss Ella Blackburn, M. C. Young, all of this community; Mrs. Albert Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Yehling, Mrs. Bell Mann, Mrs. Jane Robinson, John Laird, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Karvan and son, Charles, all of Los Angeles; F. B. Duffy, Hollywood; Mrs. Eva Dunn, Oceanside; Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Edgerton and daughter and son, Jane and Joseph, Banning.

As guests made their selection from the silver trays of dainties, they returned to the living room or sought the airy solarium or the wide porch.

Aside from the special significance of the occasion, it was an opportunity for friends of the family to greet Mr. and Mrs. Smith. For Mr. Smith's duties as state real estate commissioner take them to Sacramento and to other points in the state so much of the time that they have much less contact than usual with Santa Ana friends. In the ebb and flow of informal conversation of the evening, Mr. Smith, discussing their wedding day, reminded the guests that Oklahoma at that time was known as the Indian Territory.

Standard Life Ass'n.

Thursday evening at 6:30 was chosen as the time of the usual summer picnic of the Standard Life Association at a meeting held at the Modern Woodman hall on Friday evening. Members of the Orange lodge were asked to join in this festivity, to be held in Anaheim City park.

The president, Mrs. Martha Schreff, will have general charge of arrangements, and will be assisted by Mrs. Vada Pankey, Mrs. Adelaide Robertson, and several not yet selected.

During Friday night's business meeting reports were given by Mrs. Lillian Harris and Mrs. Minnie Harris of the visit to the Compton lodge last week. They reported an invitation to the members of the Santa Ana lodge to attend a hot chili dinner Saturday evening, Aug. 4, at the home of Mrs. Blanche Brown, secretary of the Compton lodge.

The next regular local meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Manza Patton of Garden Grove.

A FROCK AS COOL AS A SEA BREEZE
PATTERN 1837
BY ANNE ADAMS

A frock that flutters here and there in the breeze is a nice thing to wear in warm weather—it looks cool and is cool! This one has two ruffles over the shoulders which ripple refreshingly and a sash that ties its demure ends discreetly. It emphasizes the pretty lines of a young waist and the slimmness of a young figure and is a thoroughly delightful thing in either a print or a plain fabric. Think of it, for instance, in peach colored organdie—wouldn't it be charming?—or in voile or dotted Swiss—or fashion the yoke and ruffles of contrast.

Pattern 1837 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 37-38 yards of 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

And while you are writing, why not include an order for a fascinating cover with stunning illustrations and captivating descriptions of new fashions, fabrics and other things that make a woman chic. . . . ## ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Breakfast
1-2 cantaloupe
or
1-2 grapefruit
1 poached egg on
1 thin slice toast
1 tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with
1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total 255.

Choice of cantaloupe is used for the calory total. If grapefruit is taken instead, add an additional 50 calories to the total. This question may be in your mind: what makes grapefruit worth more than cantaloupe in food values? The refuse and water are about even, but the starch content is twice as heavy in grapefruit as in cantaloupe.

An Unusual Pie
Cantaloupe Pie
1 large or 2 small cantaloupes
2 eggs
3 level tbsps. cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1-4 tsp. salt
Cooked pastry shell.

Remove the seeds from very ripe, well flavored yellow cantaloupe and scoop out the soft pulp with a spoon. Put the pulp in a double boiler with the sugar, reserving 2 tablespoons for the meringue. Heat slowly. When the pulp is hot, cook the dissolved cornstarch, then the hot melon mixture, when semi-clear add the beaten egg yolks and cook a minute longer. Add salt and take off the fire. When partially cooled pour the filling into a baked pie shell, whip the egg whites stiff, add 2 tablespoons sugar, a few drops of lemon extract and spread over the pie. Brown in a slow oven.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Boston Brown Bread
1 tsp. soda stirred into
1 cup dark cooking molasses
2 cups sweet milk
4 cups Graham flour
1 cup seeded raisins
2 tbsps. melted lard
1 scant tsp. salt.
Calory total, 4450.

Foam the soda and cooking molasses in a big mixing bowl, then alternately stir in the sifted flour and sweet milk. Wash and dry the raisins, flour them generously and stir into the dough together with the salt. Last of all stir in the small amount of melted lard.

Pound cans (baking powder) are ideal for steaming this bread. Oil them well, dust with flour and pack two-thirds full with dough. Cover the cans and set them into hot water, a trifle more than half way up the sides of the cans. Cover the kettle, bring to a brisk boil, reduce the heat and boil gently for 11-14 hours. Take out, uncover the cans and bake them 20 minutes in a slow oven to dry out and form a good top crust.

This Boston Brown Bread is a good bet for a picnic supper. Have you one of the earthenware bean jugs? Fill it with canned baked beans, pep them up with catsup, a spoonful of molasses and more diced bacon. Bake 1 hour in a medium hot oven, take out and wrap in many layers of newspaper and the beans will be piping hot when you serve them, miles away. Take along peeled, chilled tomatoes, lettuce and a bottle of French dressing, make coffee over the camp fire, and brush off your very best "fish stories."

Tuesday: A fine Salad: Crab Meat Gelatine.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KIM

"Gee, this is quite a bombardment! Think of the gumdrops we have sent right over to the Meanies' camp," said Duncy, with a grin.

"I sure have heaved a lot in air. In fact I've shown more than my share. I wonder what the Meanies did when gumdrops showered in."

"I'm going to find out," Dotty said. "Don't worry, now! I'll use my head. While things are rather quiet, I will crawl across the ground."

"Into the Meanies' camp I'll sneak. Perhaps I'll get a chance to speak to Scouty. If he's captured, I am sure he can be found."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Many a girl rounds out her curves on three squares.

This didn't stop wee Dotty, though. "I have made up my mind to go," said she. And then she started out, with no real thought of fear.

It wasn't very long until the little lass got quite a thrill. By crawling very carefully, she reached a great big tree.

"This is as far, now, as I dare to go. There's Scouty, in a chair," said she. "I wish I had a chance to set the poor boy free."

The big gumdrops that had been thrown into the camp made Scouty groan, "I'm hungry. Kindly let me have a fine gumdrop to eat."

"What? Eat these things?" a Meany said. "There's something wrong, lad, with your head." "Oh, no," replied wee Scouty. "They are really quite a treat."

Another Meany cried, "I'll bet he's fooling, but we're going to let him have a chance to prove what he has said. Let's give him some. We'll feed him, 'cause his hands are tied." And when he'd had one, Scouty cried, "Oh, that was good. Bring on some more. You see, I'm not so dumb."

CONCORDIA GAMBLING AND DANCE EPISODE ALL RIGHT SAYS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

In a news article in the Anaheim Bulletin on last Saturday, the district attorney makes certain statements, to which we would like to call the attention of the public.

He was discussing what The Register said concerning the gambling and dancing party at the Concordia club last June. Here is what the district attorney is quoted as saying:

I did not promise protection to anybody. I wasn't there and cannot speak from first-hand as to what went on. But I investigated among those who did attend, and they tell me the entertainment presented was not different from that usual to the events of the kind. My reports indicate there were no nude women on the program.

The Register desires to repeat the facts in the case, and let the public judge the district attorney on his own statement, in the light of the facts.

On the afternoon of the day, in the evening of which the gambling party was held in the Concordia club, we were called up by a man who, from time to time, has given us important facts concerning the doings of the gambling fraternity and others with the public officials.

He told us that there was to be a gambling party, gambling paraphernalia in the Concordia club on that evening, that several women had been engaged to dance, and that one or more of them were to be disbursed to the limit. He said further that they had been promised protection from those high in authority in Orange county.

We sent news representatives over to this hall. The gambling was going on in full force, with hundreds of people there.

At a certain time in the program, the other part of the statement of our informant was proven true, as one of the dancers eliminated the last "stitch" from her body, as she left the platform. This is according to the statements of people who were there, published broadcast in The Register, and from that hour to this, there has not been a solitary effort by the district attorney to check up on the facts as far as we know, except as he made the statement in the Anaheim paper on last Saturday.

In that statement he says that there was nothing took place that doesn't regularly take place at such parties, and that no such event did take place. The Register had two representatives there. The facts as they were presented have never been denied to us.

The district attorney said he was told by somebody that that didn't happen. The fact is that the whole event, the expose, the story, as it was brought out, laid upon the district attorney's doorstep, the obligation to do something about it.

He didn't do anything about it, and of course told him only alibi would be now to say somebody told him that it didn't occur. We were informed that they could carry this on with immunity. We exposed the facts and laid them out to the light of day.

There was no attempt by the district attorney on that night, or any time since, to prosecute the case. Our informant said that there was the promise of protection. We don't know whether there was such a promise, except as our informant told us and that is hearsay evidence. They do not make such promises in the presence of The Register.

The same man has given us other information. It has always checked 100 per cent. The readers can figure it out for themselves as to whether the facts justify the statement of our informant.

All we can give is that evidence and the evidence that nothing was done about it, and that the district attorney impliedly declared that they have this kind of thing regularly. For he said "the same thing occurred as usually occurs at such parties." How would the district attorney have acted on this matter if he had promised protection?

There has been more or less of this kind of thing going on in this country, and that is the reason The Register is aroused over the matter.

Individual vice is to be regretted, and those who practise it have the admonition of the church, their own conscience and all of the elements of appeal to rectitude to stop it in their own individual life.

But commercialized vice, the public pandering of men and women to human passions, for private gain and dirty living through the violation of society's rules of conduct, must be stopped by the strong arm of the law. If we cannot depend upon the district attorney to protect society from commercialized vice, where, pray, shall we look?

And here we find him excusing what took place, declaring "that is the usual thing" and impliedly stating they are having such parties continuously. If there were a promise of protection, could anything have been carried out more perfectly than it was?

The full facts presented to the public, no subpoena at the time, nobody put under oath, no prosecutions, nothing done until a month or more afterwards, and then a defense of what took place comes from the mouth of the district attorney.

Assuming for a moment that the district attorney had not been counselled with before this took place, that what he said was true, that he didn't know anything about it until he read it in The Register, what did he read in The Register?

It was the description of gambling and the rest. Did he act then?

Did he make inquiry of The Register concerning the facts? No.

When he was fully advised, as was the public everywhere, of the plain and palpable violalations of the statutes, he kept silent for weeks and then simply said: "That is the customary way they carry on at these times."

And then the district attorney said: "Regardless of what the Santa Ana Register and its publisher, Mr. Burke, say or do, I shall run my own office."

We do not believe that the public needed to be told that the office of the district attorney did not harmonize with the ideas of The Register in the carrying on of its work.

But we would suggest to the district attorney that that information was entirely gratuitous. The people of Orange county know too well how The Register stands against all the commercialization of the exploitation of the weakness of the people, to think that the district attorney's office in its defense of such events as the Concordia club, was carrying on in harmony with The Register.

If there were any belief that The Register was a party to that kind of thing, we want to express our gratitude to him for clearing ourselves in the minds of the public from such imputation.

COURT SHOULD NOT INTERFERE WITH DUTIES OF PUBLIC OFFICERS

On Saturday Judge Moncur refused an attempt by the gambling interests to enjoin the sheriff from raiding their establishments. This attempt was instituted by the gambling interests of Seal Beach.

The judge, in making this statement, said that no court of equity "should go as far as to interfere with public officers in the proper exercise of their duties."

The attorneys for the gambling interests, in their attempt to prevent the sheriff from carrying on his duties as sheriff, suggested to the judge that some court had declared that the tango game of chance was not gambling. The judge swept it aside with the statement: "That doesn't determine anything for this court." He said: "That is a matter of fact to be determined by the jury and you cannot enjoin the action of the sheriff from performing under the law."

"Property rights," remarked Judge Moncur, "do not extend so far as to include the privilege of violating the law."

Sometime ago, another judge presiding in a similar case here in the superior court, granted an injunction against officials from enforcing the law in the confiscating of the slot machines. One of our superior court judges did this. Armed with decisions of the supreme court, the injunction was dissolved before its legal limit.

At that time, The Santa Ana Register, in discussing this very case, said:

Yesterday Judge Freeman, from Riverside county, sitting on the superior court bench, issued a restraining order against the city officials of Santa Ana, enjoining them from doing what they believed to be their plain duty, in the closing up of what they considered to be illegal slot machines operating in this city.

This is a most unusual procedure, under any circumstances, for a court to restrain peace officers from enforcing the law as they understand it.

We know of only one similar case. This happened two years ago in Cuyahoga county, Ohio. A judge issued a restraining order there, forbidding the sheriff from interfering with a certain gambling program at a race track. This gambling was done under the guise of being within the law.

The sheriff, as a matter of fact, refused to obey the injunction, and said he knew they were violating the law. One of the Cleveland papers, notably the Cleveland Press, wrote very severe strictures on the court.

The men who wrote the stories were cited for contempt. They retained Newton D. Baker and some of his partners as attorneys, and later in a notable opinion, the provisions of which will be published in The Register, as we have just wired for them, the newspaper men were entirely vindicated and the judge condemned.

We are glad to call the attention of our readers to this fact, to show that The Register was correct in its attitude, for the judge Saturday was giving the law in harmony with the plain letter of the statutes and the decisions of the courts.

At the time of the incident, to which our editorial referred, the injunction was dissolved before the end of the time, with the consent of the attorneys for the gambling interests, because what they wanted was time to save their paraphernalia and they had gathered up the slot machines.

This is the case to which The Register referred in its editorial of Friday. Attorney Tom McFadden of Anaheim, who is urging the support of Mr. Kaufman for district attorney, was the attorney for the gambling interests in this case, and steered them through to the protection of their property and the enjoining of the sheriff.

Liverpool Almost Forgotten

Liverpool, which has just inaugurated the longest under-river tunnel in the world, was once a greater name in the world than it is now. But it is still a greater name in the world than it is in the United States. For us it grew dim when Liverpool was supplanted by Southampton as the terminus for the crack Atlantic liners. The principal occasion on which Liverpool now emerges in the news is late in March, every year, with the running of the Grand National Steeplechase. Otherwise it is the general impression here that decay has come upon the once great seaport on the Mersey.

A moribund community would hardly treat itself to a new $40,000,000 subpontine tunnel. Liverpool, as a matter of fact, is still the second port in Great Britain, next only to London.

IT'S MOODS THAT MAKE 'EM

A Baltimore judge has ruled that women have a perfect right to change their moods.

When Adam dwelt down in his Garden
Along with his lovely young wife,
The lady, without begging pardon,
Had her moments of petulant strife.
For women, through all of the ages—
Which include quite a number of years—
You will find upon history's pages
Have mingled calamity with tears.
They pass through all stages of brightness and sorrow;
They are something today and another tomorrow.

Cleopatra, that lady of languor,
Was sometimes all sweetness and grace,
Then anon she would fly into anger,
Strewing cuss words all over the place.
For she, quite like all of her sisters
Who possess any get-up at all,
Knew the best way to cozen the Misters
Was to mingle the soft stuff with gall.
Which is why Julius Caesar was strong for the gal
And Anthony found her a regular pal.

When a girl isn't temperamental,
When no matter if things all go wrong,
She is winsome and pleasant and gentle
Men will never be fond of her long.
But when has fury and fire
To employ if a John runs a bluff,
She's the sort that the wise boys admire
And they never can love her enough.
They may think that they fancy them gracious and sweet,
But that kind of a girl rarely gets a repeat.

Sunday afternoon me and pop started to take a walk, ma saying to pop, Willyum you better get something for that horse throat of yours when you pass a drug store, and pop saying, In this enlightened age it's a hundred to one shot that I'll pass a drug store, and a word to the wise is sufficient.

Meaning he would, which he did the first drug store we came to, saying to the man, a package of Lesters Listerated Lozengers please.

Yes sir, have you ever tried Sowers Esofagus Soothers? the man said, and pop said, No, and very likely I never shall. This is a small world, as we so often hear it said, and yet our acquaintance with its manifold ramifications is even smaller, which only proves once more, I suppose, that everything is relative and nothing is really small when seen through the unprejudiced eye of a microscope, he said.

If any meant to say, Sowers Esofagus Soothers are one of our best sellers, the drug store man said, and pop said, That raises another intriguing question. Is wide dissemination alone a proof or even a fairly accurate indication of comparative superiority?

Does a man who has his picture reproduced 10 million times in newspapers thereby become an outstandingly enviable character, even though his now value depends solely on the scientifically unimportant fact that he spanked his wife in the public square? Personally I am inclined to doubt it, although millions of people take the affirmative side of the question, pop said. Did you say you have Lesters Listerated Lozengers in stock, or did I misunderstand you? he said.

O, yes, sir, surely, sir, glad to serve you, sir, the drug store man said. And he gave pop a package looking as if he wished he had did it in the first place.

Being a little drug store man with at least 2 gold teeth and maybe more.

In order that Orange county might never again be forced to ask private individuals for the use of their automobiles in an emergency, the board of supervisors authorized County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh to arrange for the purchase of an eight-cylinder, seven-passenger car to be used by the supervisors and the district attorney's office.

Postmaster Charles Overshiner received notice of the appointment of Flake Smith as an additional clerk at Santa Ana post office. Smith had been a substitute for nearly three years. His appointment placed Arthur Rubitz at the head of the substitute list. Also it gave the Santa Ana office a staff of 13 clerks. When Postmaster Overshiner took office in March, 1918, the office had eight clerks.

Work was well under way on the new kindergarten for Mexican children under school age in the Santa Fe school district, and was expected to begin within a week's time on a similar addition to the Logan school.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

NEW POLITICS AND OLD FREEDOMS

Throughout the Western world all sorts of new controls are closing in on the old freedoms as varied governments announce their determination to plan the life and enterprise of their peoples.

Some of the old freedoms, now frankly renounced by the new politics of planning, never existed save in the formal creeds of politics and economics.

The substance of other old freedoms long since disappeared, leaving only their shadows to remind us they once were ours, as the shadow of freedom of contract remains when the substance of equality of bargaining powers is well out of reach.

Freedom is neither automatically insured nor automatically destroyed by the fact of a political form.

Poverty may regiment the lives of men quite as effectively as any rule of arbitrary power. And inequity may prove quite as destructive of liberty as any tyranny.

We have known poverty and suffered inequity in our regimes of extensive freedom.

As long, however, as an unquestioned philosophy of freedom was on the books as our official doctrine we could comfort ourselves with the thought that, if liberty had here and there lapsed into slavery, it was all our own fault, that the power to determine our own destiny was after all in our own hands and that, some day when we got around to it, we would conquer poverty, erase inequity and invest our political liberties with social reality.

But today the possibility of this comforting thought is being snatched from us, as the trend of Western politics is definitely away from even a philosophy of freedom.

A new politics of regimentation lifts its voice articulate and without apology.

BLUE MONDAY

IT WAS Monday morning. The sky was low and dull gray. No breeze stirred the leaves of the old maple that hung over the doorway. Everything was sticky and steaming. Mother's head felt hot and thick and heavy. All of her felt that way. And the washing waiting. Such a day. And the children all home and as cross as could be. Such a day. You might know it was Monday. Well, I might as well begin and get it over. Susan, like a good child, sort the clothes in the hamper there while I start the washer.

"O, mother, don't wash today. It's so hot—and everything. Let's go somewhere and stay out all day. Let's."

"And it was washday—Well, maybe you're right. Come along, children. Straighten the house up and I'll pack lunch and we will go out somewhere until evening. I know. We'll go to the beach and telephone father to meet us down there and he can have supper with us there. Give him a little coolness too."

"Ma, you're a peach. I'd pick you for my mother any day. Want me to get the kid ready or shall I do something else?"

"Yes, Johnnie. He behaves better with you. Susan and I'll get things together and we'll all be on our way in half an hour."

So washday went by the board and the happy children with their mother, the lunch basket and the dog went to the beach for the day. Father came down on the train and they all had supper by the edge of the sea. Tuesday the wind changed and the sky was high and cool. The washing went through in no time at all. Everybody felt fine and went back on the old routine cheerfully, much the better for the unexpected relief of the holiday.

Every now and then there comes a day that seems about the last straw. Then it is time to break routine and do something different. The work will wait. The health of the family, the serenity of the home atmosphere is more important than the routine, useful though it is. It's usefulness is increased by an occasional well timed break.

It is not always possible to run down to the shore, or to the lake. It is not always advisable to leave home for this unusual day. Then try to vary the program and lighten its weight by changing it somehow. Make the day different in some happy fashion. Instead of eating inside the house serve the meals outside. If you are in the habit of having a balanced menu of several dishes try having just one, served on one plate, in the open air, under the arbor or up on the roof. Even the cellar offers pleasant relief these days.

The idea is to have sufficient courage and imagination to go out of the ordinary routine way and try something different. Nothing will happen if you clean house on Tuesday instead of Friday. The children won't come to grief if they don't have milk pudding Thursday night but eat watermelon instead. The rules are good. Variation is good also. The combination of rules and their violation is about as close to perfection as human nature can contrive. Hot weather is the time for experiments along this line. Take a day off now and then and just be happy in the thought that you don't have to do anything you don't want to do for this one day. (Copyright, 1934, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) ## Martial Law Continues In Two Large Strike Areas

Striking Longshoremen Are Scheduled to Return to Work Tomorrow

(By United Press)

ONE OF America's major strikes was settled today and another appeared near mediation. In two other controversies, however, agreement seemed distant and martial law was resorted to in an effort to prevent violence and bloodshed.

The west coast's longshoremen's strike finally was settled after 82 days of bloody strife. Workmen will return to the docks tomorrow.

Federal mediators predicted early agreement in the disputes between 800 livestock handlers and their employers at the world's largest livestock market center in Chicago. A sympathetic walkout of 8000 butchers and meat cutters appeared to have been averted.

National guardsmen maintained martial law as the strike of 6000 truck drivers went into its 14th day at Minneapolis. Federal mediators prepared a new plan for settlement.

Pickets walked side by side with troops, and settlement seemed distant in the strike of 5000 in the model village of Kohler, Wis. home of the bathroom fixture plant of former Governor Walker J. Kohler. Funerals were planned for two killed in rioting Friday.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—(UP)—Adjutant General Elmer A. Walsh, tightening the grip of martial law, today warned Minneapolis citizens that they would be imprisoned in a military stockade for any violations of his "dictator" rule.

Court-martial under war-time methods will follow any infractions of nearly 800 "military rules for citizens," he said. Previously citizens taken into custody were released after a warning.

A new peace plan was advanced today by federal mediators, Father Francis J. Haas and E. H. Dunigan. Representatives of the 166 trucking employers, whose drivers are on strike, conferred with the mediators.

Father Haas said if the employers accepted the plan he would present it to the drivers' union. Previous peace plans were rejected by the employers. Details were not revealed.

About 1000 persons have been arrested, principally for violation of a 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. downtown parking ban since martial law became effective five days ago.

JACK DEMPSEY DIVORCE VALID

RENO, Nev., July 30.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey's divorce in 1931 from Estelle Taylor, motion picture actress, is valid, as far as he is concerned, District Attorney Melvin Jepson said today, explaining a perjury charge against Dempsey's resident witness is not aimed against the legality of the former heavyweight champion's decree.

Jepson recently issued a complaint charging James McKay, Reno gambling baron and Dempsey's resident witness, with perjury in connection with his testimony in Dempsey's suit and his testimony in his own defense against mail fraud charges in a New York federal court.

"Dempsey's residence is not being attacked, nor do I believe his divorce will or can be in any way," Jepson said. "It is not necessary that the resident witness testify that he saw the party every day."

"Mr. McKay, however," Jepson continued, "testified in one court that he saw Mr. Dempsey in Reno every day over a certain period of time. In another court he testified that within the same period of time, he (McKay) was in a hospital in California."

Campaign For Election Will Be Clean

NEW YORK, July 30.—(UP)—An over zealous election worker was blamed today for premature disclosure that the fall campaign probably will be the cleanest in years.

Unable to resist the opportunity afforded by a throng at a funeral, the worker distributed cakes of soap with the legend: "Vote for Congressman Emanuel Celler and keep clean."

Cells today said he regretted the untimely revelation which was to have been kept secret until just before election day. The soap, it was learned, was made by a company whose slogan it "step on a cake of soap and slip into office."

NEW FLIGHT TO STRATOSPHERE CONTEMPLATED

Collapse of "Explorer" is Investigated by Backers of Flight

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—The National Geographic society, co-sponsor of the army of Saturday's ill-fated voyage into the stratosphere, hopes to back another stratosphere expedition, officials indicated today.

Plans for another attempt to better the world's altitude mark are being so far and it is expected nothing will be done definitely until scientists make a thorough study of the wreckage of the balloon which ripped while at an altitude of nearly 12 miles and jeopardized the lives of its crew of three.

Because of the time required to fabricate such a large balloon and to make another altimeter gondola, it was doubted that any further stratosphere flight could be attempted this year.

It is understood that the National Geographic society has ample funds to finance another expedition as heavy insurance was carried on the balloon which gave way Saturday. American companies insured the craft for the period it was being transported and was on the ground, and Lloyd's of London carried the risk while it was in flight. While the insurance has not yet been adjusted, it appeared evident that Lloyd's will have to stand the loss as the balloon ripped while in mid-air.

The wreckage of the balloon, the gondola and all equipment will be sent here for scientific examination.

The debris will be gone over carefully in the hope that some record of scientific value can be salvaged. Readings of many of the scientific instruments were recorded constantly throughout the flight by automatic cameras. In the crash of the gondola, it was feared that most of these cameras had broken and the film ruined by exposure to light. Society officials, however, were still hopeful that some of the film might be instant and something of scientific value saved from the wreckage.

The balloon's crew of three—Major William E. Kepner, Capt. Albert W. Stevens and Capt. Orvil Anderson—are expected to come here shortly to assist the inquiry into causes of the balloon's failure.

CONVICTION OF 'THE FOX' UPHELD

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—The District of Columbia court of appeals today upheld the conviction of Norman T. Whitaker, serving 18 months in jail in connection with the Lindbergh baby ransom hoax.

Whitaker was convicted with Gaston B. Means last year on charges of conspiring to steal $35,000 from Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, wife of Edward B. McLean, former Washington publisher.

Mrs. McLean had entered into negotiations with Means in an effort to recover the kidnapped Lindbergh child. Means represented that he was in touch with the abductors. Whitaker was brought into the transaction, being introduced by Means as "the fox." Whitaker, a former practicing patent attorney and a nationally known chess player, appealed from the conviction.

Re-Armament Program for "Next War" Announced By Stanley Baldwin

LONDON, July 30.—(UP)—On-ious preparations for "the next war" were revealed in the house of commons today when Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, announced Britain's plans for building up her air force as a part of an imperial defense plan.

Baldwin startled the house by making the following points:

- 1—The air force will be built up over four years from 844 to 1304 planes, an increase of 460 fighting ships.
- 2—The civilian population will be drilled for defense against air raids.
- 3—The acting prime minister virtually sanctioned Germany's right to re-arm, because of her absolute defenselessness in the air.
- 4—He intimated his expectation of another war, although he does not expect it in the immediate future.

He indicated that the 47,000,000 civilians in the British Isles soon would be engaged in rehearsal for protection against air raids when he announced that the next stage of the government's preparations would involve communicating with local authorities and public utility companies.

"Before long steps will be taken to communicate the necessary instructions to the general public," he said.

The new British air force of 1304 planes would compare with 1650 planes held by France, the leading air power; about 1400 in the Soviet Union and 1050 in the United States.

Among the motives for the air force increase, Baldwin cited the decision of the United States to add 1184 planes to its naval service.

The government's program met with opposition from labor. The opposition deplored an increase in armaments which would jeopardize the chances of international disarmament. A labor motion of censure, reads:

"Armaments—That while re-arming its adherence to the system of collective security under the

First Guns of War Roared 20 Years Ago

By UNITED PRESS

Twenty years ago today the first guns of the world war began to thunder in Europe, ushering in four terrible years during which cannon never ceased to speak, day or night.

On July 30, 1914, Austrian artillery began to shell Belgrade, capital of Serbia.

On the same day Germany warned Russia against the mobilization already under way there. The last hopes of averting a general war were dwindling rapidly.

PRIVATE RITES TOMORROW FOR FAMOUS ARTIST

Simple Services Planned for Marie Dressler, Who Attained Fame After 60

HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—(UP)—A traditional quiet shadowed by the death of Marie Dressler, Hollywood mourned the death of the beloved actress today while her body lay in state in a room at the Hollywood Hotel.

Countless messages, pouring in from all parts of the country, were mute evidences of a nation's sorrow over the death of the popular "ugly duckling" who found that fame began at 60.

The grand old lady of the stage and screen died late Saturday in the seclusion of a Santa Barbara estate. Active until recent weeks, the 65-year-old actress learned three years ago that cancer would eventually bring death. But when the end came, it was kindly.

Dr. Franklin R. Nuzum, her physician, revealed she had been in a coma for 20 days. There were no last words, he said. The actress' death was suddenly replaced by an infinite calm. A few close friends at her side wept, but she did not hear.

The funeral services will be private. Even if the actress had not requested this her associates would not have allowed public rites.

They recalled the disorderly scenes at the funerals of Rudolph Valentino, Lillian Tashman and other screen favorites.

The body was brought here by motor car from Santa Barbara by Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Walker, intimate friends. It was taken to a mortuary, there to await the simple services tomorrow.

The Rev. Neal Dodd, pastor of film-drama's famous Little Church Around the Corner, will officiate at services in the vine-covered Wee Kirk o' the Heather.

Those attending will be admitted by card only.

NINE-YEAR-OLD HEIRESS SPENDS $5,000 PER MONTH

NEW YORK, July 30.—(UP)—Although she has $2,000,000 in the bank, nine-year-old Lucy Cotton Thomas manages to get by on $5000 a month, or $166.66 a day, according to an accounting which came under the scrutiny of Surrogate James A. Foley today.

Here are a few excerpts from her expense account:

- Rent and sundries, Hotel Pierre, $1500 a month.
- Grocery bills, $283 a month.
- Salaries of chauffeur and maid, $112 for two weeks.
- Toys, $71.
- Lido Country club dues, $250.
- Telephone, $37 a month.

Dentist, $10 and $29. Drugs, $55 a month. Oberlin School, half-year tuition, $285. Maintaining piano, $150 a month.

The accounting, filed by Lucy's mother, Mrs. Lucy Cotton Thomas McGraw, former actress and society leader, showed that $272,734 had been spent in the girl's name between January 1929, and December, 1933. Mrs. McGraw is seeking a reduction in the $300,000 bond she was required to post as guardian. Lucy inherited the money from her father, the late Edward Russell Thomas, sportsman.

WALLACE SAYS CROP CONTROL TO CONTINUE

Sec'y. of Agriculture Warns Against Republican Mismanagement

RUSTON, La., July 30.—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace attacked the Republican party with acid phrases today, warning the electorate not to succumb to "the short-sighted leadership" of persons who use the drought as the spearhead for an attack on the agricultural adjustment program.

In this small northern Louisiana community, Wallace told an audience of farmers and small merchants to reject counsel of administration opponents. "Do not give them an opportunity for mismanagement again," he advised.

The secretary emphasized that the crop controls exercised by the AAA would be continued despite inroads into surplus which the drought had made.

Wallace, whose father was a Republican cabinet officer under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and who himself was a Republican until the elder Wallace broke with the party high command, accused Republicans of always having been "short on statesmanship."

He assailed those who contended the drought has solved the surplus problem and obviated the AAA, pointing out that if controls were removed entirely a year of ordinary weather "would bring us right back to the 1932 situation."

Wallace said this alleged effort to fashion the hardships of the drought to political usage "was typical of the short-sighted leadership which characterized the Republican party from 1921 to 1932."

"There have always been men of high integrity and excellent executive ability in the Republican party," he said, "but the party has always been short on statesmanship and never more strikingly than during the period from 1921 to 1932."

The secretary charged that throughout these years Republican

RUSH AID TO 150 HOMELESS IN FIRE

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—State authorities today joined with Red Cross and other relief organizations in rushing aid to 150 persons made homeless by a fire which late Saturday destroyed half the buildings of Dorris, northern California lumber town, with a loss estimated at $500,000.

State forest rangers were directed by Deputy Forester W. B. Rider to issue blankets and other supplies to those whose homes were burned, while Red Cross and SERRA officials supervised erection of soup kitchens and temporary shelters.

Virtually the entire business section of the town was consumed in the blaze, including the plant of the Associated Lumber and Box company, where 125 men were employed. No one was injured.

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—(UP)—Resignation of Superior Judge Harry F. Sewell, jurist conducting the sanity trial of Louis Rude Payne, convicted slayer of his mother and brother, has been demanded by Presiding Judge Frank C. Collier, it was revealed today.

No reason for the action was given.

The presiding judge said he had asked for the resignation last Thursday after Judge Sewell had been reported missing mysteriously for 12 hours. Sewell later was located in a downtown hotel, ill of bronchitis, according to his physician.

Judge Collier revealed he had sent a prepared resignation to Sewell asking him to sign it and hand it in at once. With the resignation Collier sent the following note:

"Dear Judge Sewell: The enclosed is self-explanatory. You will keep your promise to me. I would like to have it in my hand not later than 9 p. m. today at the University club."

Collier said Sewell had not replied to date. It was indicated additional information might be released later.

Treasurer Failed To Pay Loans

Large Borrowings By State Official Are Described in Suit

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—Charging failure to make payment on a series of loans, the Central company of Oakland today filed suit against State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson to recover $116,550.

The suit, filed by Clyde E. Sherwood, attorney for the company, which is liquidating affairs of the Central National bank of Oakland, alleged that Johnson borrowed various sums from the bank, deposited no securities on some occasions and paid only part of the principal and interest due.

According to the complaint, Johnson borrowed $54,300 on June 30, 1931, and deposited as security 2100 shares of Marchant California Machine company stock and 1230 shares of National Automotive Fibres stock. The sum of $25,799 was paid on the principal January 29, 1934, and $875 on interest December 29, 1931.

On that transaction, it was charged, Johnson owes $28,501 on the principal, plus $6,128 interest to January 29, 1934, and accumulated interest since that date.

Johnson also borrowed $68,092 on December 31, 1930, and made no payment except $4201 on the principal January 29, 1934, the suit alleged. The amount owed was set forth as principal of $83,292 plus interest of $10,497 to January 29, 1934, with accumulated interest since that date.

Other amounts borrowed, according to the complaint, were $2155 December 31, 1930; $4000 on June 4, 1931, and $1365 on June 30, 1931. The suit charges that no payment had been made on these amounts.

No mention was made of securities on any of the loans except the $54,300 obtained on June 30, 1931.

The complaint charged that "the plaintiff has demanded payment but the defendant has failed, neglected and refused to pay said sum or any portion of it."

In a promissory note which Johnson delivered to the bank, there was a provision that if the plaintiff brought suit to collect any portion of the amounts borrowed, the defendant would pay attorneys' fees and court costs.

The suit, therefore, in addition to asking $99,914.34 principal, $16,635.75 interest and accumulated interest from January 29, 1934, seeks $3725 for attorneys' fees, plus court costs.

PRESIDENT'S ONLY DAUGHTER WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall Granted Decree Today in Nine Minutes

MINDEN, Nev., July 30.—(UP)—Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Dall, the president's only daughter, today won an uncontested divorce from Curtis Dall, New York and Chicago broker.

Judge Clark Guild granted the decree to Mrs. Dall on her complaint charging "mental cruelty," which was based on marital incompatibility, following a brief hearing.

Mrs. Dall, deeply tanned after many weeks of sun bathing, appeared to be unmoved by the court's verdict splitting the marital tie between herself and the father of her two children, "Sister" and "Buddy," famous White House grandchildren.

She paid no attention to newspapermen and a few residents of this quiet town who had come to the courthouse to see the president's daughter.

Her two children were not present at the hearing. They had been left at the Pyramid Lake ranch where Mrs. Dall had spent most of her six weeks' residence in Nevada. A negro nurse and a secret service guard were with them.

The hearing was held behind closed doors. Mrs. Dall entered the courtroom at 11:05 a. m. and the bailiff locked the doors behind her. No one else was admitted. Nine minutes later she emerged, divorced from Dall.

CONVICT ESCAPES, THEN SURRENDERS

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—Albert Hickam, 35, Los Angeles convict, was back in prison today asking himself why he attempted to escape from the institution.

Hickam, who walked away from his job in the orchard outside the walls Saturday, surrendered to George Farrington, Folsom rancher, about seven miles from the prison. "I don't know why I did it," said the convict, "I guess I just was crazy."

He was received at Folsom in 1932 on a grand larceny conviction and was to have been paroled late this year.

CALCUTTA, India, July 30.—(UP)—Bombay, Karachi and Calcutta motion picture audiences have joined the American decency league in the campaign against sex films after strong sermons in churches.

Some entire congregations joined the league. Hindus and Mohammedans are cooperating, and distributors of American films are trying over future film bookings.

MURDERER CONFESSES FATAL SHOT

Fleeing Rebels Escape Over Border Into Jugo-Slavia

(By UNITED Press)

A NEW CABINET, headed towards Fascism and Monarchism, took over today in Austria.

The Nazis were crushed and except for scattered violence fighting virtually had ceased all over the country. Military trial of arrested Nazis, with many hangings possible, was started today.

Total casualties were estimated at from 200 to 250 dead and more than 1000 wounded.

Otto Planetta confessed he killed Chancellor Dollfuss. He said he shot for personal vengeance because Dollfuss had discharged him from the army. The bullet taken from Dollfuss' body was fired from the same calibre gun that Planetta carried.

A serious international problem existed over Germany's nomination of Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen as special minister to Austria. France and Italy were reported to be urging Austria not to accept von Papen unless Germany gives guarantees against Nazi interference in Austria. Berlin was perturbed and annoyed by Austria's hesitation.

Stamp Out Nazis

VIENNA, July 30.—(UP)—The new Fascist-Monarchist government of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, stamping out rebel Nazis, today began the trial of accused murderers of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

The trial started in a small, dingy room of the justice building before the special military court which has power of life and death, with no appeal. It increased tension created by the government's mop-up of rebels after a week of warfare and an unsuccessful Nazi raid in Vienna today.

The first defendants were Ex-Sergeant Otto Planetta, who police said confessed to the actual murder of Dollfuss in revenge for

FIRE MENACES DELTA REGION

MARTINEZ, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—A menacing grass and brush fire, which already had laid waste several thousand acres of tule swamps, grain fields and other crops, was reported burning in the San Joaquin river delta region about 40 miles east of here today.

Acres of peat bogs in the area where the fire was burning made the problem of fire-fighting more difficult.

It was reported fire wardens planned to cut river levees, flooding the territory, in an effort to control the blaze.

1000 MEN PATROL FOREST FIRE AREA

PASADENA, Cal., July 30.—(UP)—An army of 1000 men guarded fire lines in the Sierra Madre mountains today to frustrate any fresh outbreak of a fire that denuded 3200 acres of valuable watershed and mountain playground last week.

Although the blaze was reported definitely under control, William V. Mendenhall, supervisor of the Angeles National Forest, said safeguards were being taken to cope with any emergency.

"We have sent some of the CCC men back to their camps, but a sufficient force will be maintained in the fire area until the last ember is burned out," he said.

WASHINGTON

Hearings granted to domestic interests in connection with the foreign trade agreement with foreign countries negotiated by the state department, have turned out to be just what was expected by the disbelievers. When the bill, giving the president power to negotiate agreements involving changes in tariff rates, was first drafted and introduced, it contained no provision to give those industries affected by the agreements a chance to be heard. The Republicans raised a big outcry over this and insisted that would not permit the bill to pass, would filibuster against it, if necessary, unless the bill was amended so as to include hearings.

Democratic leadership hearkened to the plea, or threat, and obligingly adopted the feature demanded by the Republicans. But it was nevertheless generally believed by those familiar with such things that the hearings would not amount to anything and that they were just a sop thrown to the high tariff forces under the new tariff commission on the Cuban commercial treaty, and the proceedings seem to justify the prediction as to their value. What the Cuban treaty contains has never been disclosed to congress or the public, and neither Thomas W. Page, vice chairman of the commission presiding at the hearings, nor any other government officials will tell witnesses what its provisions are. This puts prospective witnesses wholly in the dark because they do not know whether their business is affected or not.

A Connecticut tobacco grower came before the commission and he tried to find out if his product was affected by the terms of the agreement, but Mr. Page told him he could not give him the information. Thereupon, the Connecticut Yankee thought he had better be on the safe side and protest anyhow. Other witnesses have followed his lead and have testified as if their products were not only going to be affected but adversely.

Witnesses must tell their own stories because they are not permitted to have attorneys argue their cases for them. The hearings are nominally public, but that does not mean you can walk right in without any formalities. No one is allowed to enter unless he fills in a slip of paper giving his name, whom and what he represents, and the reason he wishes to testify or be present. Those who imagine there would be a repetition of the old congressional tariff hearings, where witnesses appeared with a battery of legal counsel, filed immense briefs, had rolls of charts, exhibited their wares and made stump speeches to the committee, find the new methods strange and disappointing.

INVESTIGATIONS

Despite adjournment, a considerable number of members of congress could still be occupying themselves with public affairs in ways already marked out for them. Twelve senate investigations authorized by the 73rd congress were continued into the 74th, and eleven house investigations are still alive. With the usual membership of five on each committee, these twenty-three investigations, if all were active, would require the attention of 115 legislators. Most of them, however, have suspended operations for the summer and some are doing the work preliminary to starting up in the fall.

One of the latter sort is the special committee to investigate the munitions industry, which is headed by Senator Nye, of North Dakota. Scores of investigators for this committee are at work gathering material for the opening sessions of the committee later in the year.

Perhaps a half dozen or so of all the committees are carrying on by holding hearings during the summer. Certain ones in the list don't look so awfully serious and give off an odor suggestive of junk. The burdens of the senate committee investigating "conservation of wild life" would appear to be not very depressing nor would the "committee to visit the Philippine Islands" find the work exhausting unless the members were poor sailors.

But, when they all get to work and begin digging into the subjects of oil, crime and criminal practices, bankruptcy, campaign expenditures and even tin, it should not be long before the tide of revelations begins to flow again.

CALLING BACK

Recently, W. W. Husband, who had been for a long time assistant secretary of labor, specializing in immigration matters, resigned his post and thought he would have a rest from public duties for a while. But, just as he had settled down in Vermont for a pleasant summer's holiday, he was summoned to Washington to undertake some special work abroad in relation to immigration.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin
REPERCUSSIONS
The drought situation has assumed top rank importance in New York appraisals of business and financial prospects. Insiders predict it will prove the toughest nut the administration has had to crack and are keeping a careful lookout for its effects in three different directions.

First is the relief problem. Even the hardest boiled Wall Streeters admit without argument that the government will have to support the farmers in the affected districts at least until next year. The big question in financial circles is what it will use for money.

As New York sees it, Washington has only three methods of financing available: additional borrowing by the federal government, special appropriations to be met out of special taxes or out-right currency inflation. Apart from the risk of impairing federal credit—which is at least remote—the chief drawback to the borrowing method is diversion of funds from more productive uses with consequent slackening of industry and employment. Yet most conservatives agree it would be the least painful and dangerous way to foot the bill. They expect it to be tried first and hope—but are by no means sure—that it will prove adequate.

Special taxes are viewed with alarm as ruinous to enterprise. New York sincerely believes they would inevitably result in complete industrial and financial stagnation. Currency inflation might take the form of further devaluation, aggressive use of the silver powers conferred on the treasury, paper currency to replace bonds as a stimulus, or the Thomas amendment or a combination of these. This prospect scares the bankers stiff but many of them see drastic monetary action as certain and are pulling in their horns as fast as they can.

Any or all of these methods would have unfavorable repercussions on recovery but the attitude here is that it can't be helped.

MASTER
Then there's the effect of the drought on business and purchasing power. New York learns of a growing volume of cancelled orders from the middle west—especially for automobiles and the like. The farmers can't buy and the necessity for relieving their distress cuts down the amount of other purchasing power available for consumers' goods.

This in turn tends to accentuate the spiral of lower production, less employment and a renewed deflation cycle. Also there's the problem of higher food costs for city consumers. Likewise the probability of reduced industrial earnings and depressed security prices—none of which will do the national income any good. Comment runs that F. D. R. will have to be the master mechanic of all time if he's to keep the recovery machine from stalling.

WALL
Finally, there's the credit angle—which ties into the other two. Cancelled orders mean a tightening up on credit for merchants and manufacturers. In addition, the credit river will be dammed near its source. The more funds are needed for relief—whether provided through government channels or otherwise—the less will be available for other purposes.

Nature has built a wall which the credit expansion program—never a lusty infant at best—will have a lot of trouble bulldozing.

PROPHETS
New Yorkers with long memories recall that nearly thirty years ago Theodore Roosevelt told the country—on advice of Forester Clifford Pinchot—that if it didn't quit cutting down trees it would painfully close to normal. It looks doubtful. The lumber people's experts gave the laugh to such gloom.

Experts note that "abnormal" dry weather has become so habitual in the past few years as to be some day faced with persistent as if Teddy—and Pinchot—knew what they were talking about.

HELP
Strange as it seems, many small banks over the country are so flush with money they don't know what to do. Uncle Same is largely responsible. A sizeable share of the postal savings deposits ejected by the big banks has been redistributed among smaller institutions.

And the government has notified a number of depositaries for public works cash that it won't be withdrawn for use for some months to come. Naturally the banks want to employ these funds profitably—but how?

They used to send their excess cash to their New York correspondents to be re-lent in the call money market—but no more. The New York banks have too much trouble keeping their own money busy to bother with the problems of country cousins. Loans are hard to make because of the strictness of FDIC and Federal Reserve examiners—who also regard a large proportion of security investments with an unenthusiastic eye.

Net result—a hungry demand from country banks for govern-

PLAN TRIP TO INSTITUTIONS OF M. E. CHURCH

ORANGE, July 30.—Plans for a trip to Los Angeles September 7, to visit the various Methodist institutions there as a part of "Know Your Church Week," were made at a meeting of the Fidelity Sunday school class of the First Methodist church, when they were all day guests Friday in the mountain home of Miss Frances Heil at Modjeska.

A feature of the pleasant occasion was a covered dish luncheon served at noon in the cool shade of the numerous trees which grow in Miss Heil's yard. At the close of the meal, home made ice cream was served by Miss Leah Fernald, Miss Nellie Armstrong and Miss Jennie Evans, co-hostesses for the day.

During a short business meeting in charge of the president, Miss Lulu Thornburg, it was announced that Friday's outing would take the place of the regular August meeting.

Sharing the day together were Miss Mary Bogue, Mrs. W. B. Nuckols, Miss Mabel Wing, Miss Lulu Thornburg, Miss Floy Bradshaw, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Kathryn Northcross, Mrs. Bessie Fuller, Miss Beale Sawyer, Miss Clara Adams, Miss Bertha Adams, Miss Iva G. ## CHURCHES ARRANGE AUGUST SERVICES

FULLERTON, July 30.—In continuation of their annual program, the ministerial union of Fullerton will hold union meetings each Sunday night during August, the first to be at the Christian church, Sunday, August 5, at 7:30 o'clock, where the Rev. George F. Tinsley, pastor of the host church, will preside, and the Rev. Francis E. Hawes, pastor of the Baptist church and president of the ministerial union, will preach the sermon.

The Presbyterian and Christian churches are also continuing their morning services in union, at the Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Mr. Tinsley in charge, and Dr. Graham C. Hunter will be on vacation during the period.

The meetings of the ministerial association churches are to be at the Baptist church August 12, at the Presbyterian church August 19, at the Methodist church August 26, and again at the Christian church September 2, when they will close, and after which churches will start their regular program.

This in turn tends to accentuate the spiral of lower production, less employment and a renewed deflation cycle. Also there's the problem of higher food costs for city consumers. Likewise the probability of reduced industrial earnings and depressed security prices—none of which will do the national income any good. Comment runs that F. D. ## Tragic Anniversaries

Russia's Czar Orders General Mobilization; France
"Withdraws" Frontier Troops

BY MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Staff Writer

It's July 30, 1914, and the most calamitous war in the world's history is less than a week away.

Paris, 3 a. m.—President Poincaré, Premier Viviani, and War Minister Messimy, conferring at the Elysees Palace, frame a telegram to St. Petersburg reiterating France's resolution to fulfill her obligations as an ally of Russia, but asking Russia to take no immediate step which would offer Germany a pretext for mobilization.

St. Petersburg, 4 p. m.—Premier Sazanov, pushed by the general staff and the war ministry, calls on the czar to urge him to order general mobilization. The czar is firm against it at first. "Think of the thousands and thousands of men who will be sent to their death!" he groans. Sazanov fills his lungs. "Think of the safety of your Empire!" he thunders. "I order general mobilization!" the czar cries.

It was the great divide of international negotiation. Hitherto there had been a chance that war could be confined to the Balkans. Thereafter, it became European.

Paris, Night—"If King George's government," says President Poincaré to the British ambassador, "should announce that in the event of conflict between Germany and France, resulting from the

START TRIAL OF DOLFUSS MURDERERS

having been thrown out of the army, and Franz Holzweber, another Nazi accused of taking a leading part in the assassination.

After the prosecution had presented its case against the two men, court was adjourned to permit the defense to prepare its case. If convicted, the two men probably will be the first of many Nazis to be hanged, with the prospect of violent reprisals by their associates.

Holzweber sat with composure as the prosecutor accused him of being the most important ring-leader, who disarmed the guard at the chancellery and prepared the way for its capture by the Nazi rebels.

The prosecutor said Planetta's only defense during the investigation was that he did not enter the chancellery with the intention of killing, but had been under orders not to shoot except in case of absolute necessity.

The prosecutor described the two shots which struck Dolfuss. He said one was a flesh wound and the other close to the spinal column, causing the chancellor to bleed to death. He said Dolfuss lay without medical attention for two hours as his life blood ebbed away.

Planetta confessed, the prosecutor said, after one of his accomplices, Johann Stein, had told police that Planetta boasted of "how I killed Dolfuss."

REBELS NEAR BORDER
(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

RABENSTEIN, Austria, July 30.—(UP)—A battle is imminent between Nazis in control of this frontier village and loyal Austrian troops, a United Press correspondent found on his arrival today.

The Nazis were barricaded in the railroad station and customs building. Sixteen truckloads of soldiers waited a short distance from town ready to open fire.

But they had to wait outcome of negotiations between Austria and Jugo-Slavian authorities over the prospect of permitting the rebels to retreat across the border.

Jugo-Slav frontier guards had provided food for the embattled Nazis until last night. A protest from Austrian officials forced them to cease further aid.

Nazis threatened to kill customs officials and railroad employees if the troops open fire before they are able to cross the frontier to the safety of Jugo-Slavia.

The rebels, who had been chased southward, were making their last stand in Rabenstein. They had entered the village in 16 trucks after ripping up railroad tracks to impede pursuit. It was reported without confirmation that already ten truckloads had slipped over the frontier.

NEW CABINET NAMED
VIENNA, July 30.—Kurt Schuschnigg, professional criminal lawyer of 47, succeeded married Engelbert Dollfuss as chancellor. Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Star-

hemberg, Heimwehr leader, continued as vice chancellor. Major Emil Fey, his chief aide, became minister of interior, which includes control of the state police.

A state of alarm was proclaimed during the late night cabinet meeting at which the cabinet was reorganized and around the chancellery were posted strong guards.

A Heimwehr spokesman said the state of alarm was caused by demand of 15,000 men of the Schutz-corp organization that Starhemberg be named chancellor. They announced they would not leave Vienna unless he headed the government. Starhemberg himself left the cabinet meeting and pleaded with them to go home.

Some left early today. The Heimwehr, chief of the semi-military forces supporting the government, was known to be dissatisfied because Starhemberg was not chancellor.

Over the week end there was almost no fighting. The government, for the present, had defeated the Nazis. But the victory was indecisive and served more to show the Nazis' strength than the government's.

Careful compilation of casualties in the Nazi revolt indicated between 200 and 250 had been killed and more than 1000 wounded. Of these the government lost 73 killed and 165 wounded.

The cabinet named last night: Chancellor, minister of justice, minister of education and minister of national defense—Kurt Schuschnigg.

Foreign minister—Egon Berger-Waldeneck.

Minister of finance—Karl Buresch.

Minister of commerce—Friedrich Stockinger.

Minister of social welfare—E. Neustaedter-Stuerner.

Undersecretary of national defense—General Wilhelm Zehner.

Undersecretary of public security and justice—Karl Karwinsky.

Police were reorganized. Dr. Michael Skubi, deputy police chief of Vienna, was named general inspector of all police in the country, and directed to co-ordinate all police units into a single group. Heretofore police of each city have worked independently under the minister of security.

First business of the new cabinet was to clean up the remnants of the Nazi revolt, attempt to make another one impossible, and to try by special military courts the hundreds of Nazis, Socialists and Communists under arrest.

A minister of agriculture is yet to be named. Christian Socialists, Dollfuss' party, control six cabinet posts. Schuschnigg, Buresch and Stockinger all are Christian Socialists. The other four ministers, with five posts are Heimwehr men.

It was said authoritatively the new government would seek to have the big powers obtain four specific guarantees from Germany before it accepted Baron Fritz von Papen as German minister.

The guarantees are: (1) Recognition of Austria's independence; (2) Germany must not encourage Austrian Nazis; (3) the Austrian Nazi legion in Germany must be disbanded; (4) newspapers and radio attacks must cease.

It was indicated the government preferred the powers to make representations because of the diplomatic difficulty of imposing conditions in connection with the appointment of an envoy.

CROWD APPLAUDS THE DILLINGERS

INDIANAPOLIS, July 30.—(UP)—Scenes in Chicago's basement morgue when thousands rioted last week to see John Dillinger's bullet-riddled body were paralleled today as more thousands stormed an Indianapolis theater.

On exhibition was John Dillinger's family—his 70-year-old Quaker father, his sister, his brother-in-law and his half-brother. They expected to receive enough from the thousands of dollars pouring into the box office to pay for John's funeral.

The audiences were sympathetic. "We didn't have enough money to pay for John's burial and decided this was the best way to get it," explained John Dillinger, Sr., on the stage.

4 DAIRY LICENSES IN L. A. REVOKED

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(UP)—Licenses of four dairy companies to sell milk in Los Angeles area have been revoked by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, effective as of Saturday.

Those affected are: The Golden West Creamery Co., Moneta; Lucerne Cream and Butter Co., Los Angeles; Western Holstein Farms, Inc., Los Angeles; and the Valley Dairy Co., Inc., Glendale.

The firms were charged with failure to make required deductions for maintenance of market services and with failure to pay certain sums to the adjustment fund maintained for all distributors. Wallace issued the revocation order upon the recommendation of Arthur P. Curran, of the AAA license enforcement section, who presided over lengthy hearings both here and in Los Angeles.

Miss Cruickshank Is Seeded Second

EASTHAMPTON, N. Y., July 30.—(UP)—Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles today was seeded No. 1 for the annual Maidstone club invitation tennis tournament starting here tomorrow. The top ranking was given partly as a result of Miss Babcock's upset victory over the National champion, Helen Jacobs, at Seabright Saturday.

Miss Jacobs will not play here. Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., Baroness Maud Levi of Minden, Nev., Mrs. Mary Groat Harris of Kansas City, and Mae Courvoisier of Wichita, are other seeded players.

STERILIZATION MOVE LAUNCHED

George S. Winkler, 35-year-old third-term convict, former advertising salesman and printer, volunteered for the test case, went before the state board of affairs to fight the law. The board will rule whether he should or should not be sterilized for the benefit of society.

A tense feeling prevailed in the prison today as more than 300 third-term felons, all subject to sterilization, awaited the verdict on Winkler's fate.

Four months ago the board of affairs ordered 11 women sterilized at the Norman State hospital for insane. All operations were performed within a month, and each was successful.

NEW RED LION GASOLINE CAPTURES POWER OF GUNS

Controlled Power Is Secret of This Improved Motor Fuel ... Instead of Sharp Explosion, It Burns With Bluish Flame, Giving Full Power Push on Piston Head

Up and down the speedways and highways of the Coast, motorists are saying, "Here's the gasoline with power I never dreamed was possible." This time our engineers have added tremendous new energy by reproducing the secret of Controlled Power of the big guns ... a discovery which increased the range of big guns 211 times.

A charge of new Red Lion burns in 1-32 of a second, which is much more slowly than ordinary gasoline. This gives the power a sustained, controlled thrust on the piston to the end of the stroke, instead of a sharp, sudden explosion. That's the secret of great range of the big guns, just as it is the secret of the marvelous new power in Red Lion gasoline.

Fill up with new Red Lion today! Step on the accelerator. Feel the thrill of new power that responds instantly. Test it for mileage, speed, performance and you'll see why it is today's greatest gasoline value.

RECORDS SMASHED WITH CONTROLLED POWER!

Speed: 119.32 MILES PER HOUR
Kelly Peltro broke the track record at Indianapolis in his qualifying round this year with Gilmore plus tetraethyl.

Economy: 31.27 MILES PER GALLON
A Ford V-8 sedan was driven 1252 miles from Los Angeles into the High Sierras on 40.03 gallons of new Red Lion. Western Union supervised test.

Hill Climbing: 13.2% GRADE ON HIGH
For the first time in history, a stock sedan was driven to Blue Ridge Summit in the Sierras, 8200 feet elevation, on grades averaging 13.2%, in high gear all the way.

Get CONTROLLED POWER

...the Gasoline with the Full Power-Push on the Piston-Head!

Read What Prominent Army Officer Says About Controlled Power:

"I was absolutely astounded to find that what you people are doing is absolutely parallel with what we have been working in connection with the big guns. The action of your gasoline is exactly the same as the action of our modern powder."

CAN KNOW GOD THROUGH SON. PASTOR SHOWS

The Rev. C. D. Hicks of the Christian and Missionary Alliance spoke last evening on the subject, "What and Where is God?" He took for his text John 4:24, "God is a spirit and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth."

He said in part: "It is as easy to see God as it is to see any other person. But some will say, 'God cannot be seen' and they quote John 1:18, 'No man hath seen God at any time.' And yet I say it is as easy to see God as it is to see your mother. In fact no man hath ever seen his mother. He has heard her loving and gentle voice as she has felt her tender touch in time of suffering. He has seen her kindly affection as it lighted her kindly eye; but he has never seen his lovely mother, for she, like the God who made her, is also a spirit.

"Those eyes that looked so kindly on you at times of trouble, those hands that so lovingly ministered to you and that bent, worn-out form which you followed one day to the city of the dead, and through tears said 'Good bye' was not mother. That was only the instrument that God gave to your mother through which she might reveal herself to you and minister to your needs. It was given her that you might know a mother's love.

"While the Bible is very clear that 'no man hath at any time seen God' it does not indicate that we cannot know God. In fact, the opposite is true; we can, and should know God as actually as we know our mother. If we read the full passage in which John declares that no man ever saw God, he definitely states that we know Him through Christ.

"As you know your mother and her love only through the body which God gave her for that purpose, just so God hath chosen two definite instruments through which

UNREST AND CRIME TRACED TO JANGLED HOMES AND VIEWS ON MATRIMONY, DECLARES PASTOR

When there is unhappiness in the home, then the whole world goes wrong, said the Rev. C. M. Aker, of Spurgeon Memorial church, in his sermon at the union church service Sunday evening at the First Baptist church. His subject was "The Message of Jesus About the Home."

Much of our modern unrest and crime can be traced to jangled and disrupted homes; also much of religious failure among the young is due to conditions at home, declared the minister. Modern views on marriage encouraged by such as Judge Ben Lindsey, Bertrand Russell and others, is behind much of the break-down in the home, he said.

"It is essential to our happiness and well-being that we undertake to find out the mind of Christ in regard to the home," said the Rev. Aker. "Much of our modern unrest and unhappiness is due to the break-down of many of our modern homes. When there is unhappiness in the home then the whole world goes wrong. If there is happiness there we can face the world with all its depressions with a smile.

Christian Science

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text was from Psalms: "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me; for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

Among the Bible selections in the Lesson-Sermon were the verses from the Gospel of John. "Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health" with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Instruct the sick that they are not helpless victims, for if they will only accept Truth, they can resist disease and ward it off, as possible."

CRUCIFIXION IS UNAPPRECIATED SAYS PREACHER

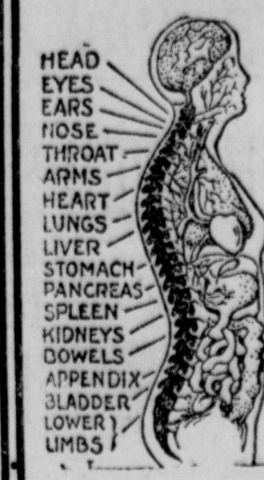

The world had failed to appreciate the purpose of the Lord's sacrifice on the cross, declared Adjutant I. J. Torgerson, of the Salvation Army, in his sermon yesterday, his text taken from Ephesians 3:19, "And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with all the fullness of God."

"We are exhorted in the Word of God to know the love of Christ,"

NEW GOLDEN PLY TIRE SAVES MOTORISTS' LIVES —Gives Months of Extra Mileage—FREE!

Here's more
"PAPER" guarantee

"Paper" guarantees may put new tires on your car, but they won't save your life if your tire blows out going 40, 50 or 60 miles an hour. Play safe. Get the new Goodrich Silvertown — the only passenger car tire in the world that guarantees you Golden Ply blow-out protection, plus a full 12 months (business use, 6 mos.) guarantee against all road hazards except punctures, fire, theft or abuse from running flat.

EVERYBODY'S happy. Car running smooth as a top. Roads perfect. But, don't forget, it takes more than that to keep you from having a blow-out—especially if a treacherous heat blister has started to form inside the tire.

What causes blow-outs
Today's high speeds of 40, 50, 60 generate terrific heat inside the tire. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows until, sooner or later, BANG! A blow-out.

To protect motorists, every new Goodrich Silvertown has the amazing Life-Saver Golden Ply. This remarkable invention resists heat. Rubber and fabric don't separate. Thus, blisters don't form inside the tire. The great, unseen cause of blow-outs is prevented.

Racing daredevils tested out the Golden Ply at breakneck speeds, on the world's fastest track. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without the Life-Saver Golden Ply failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run.

Goodrich Safety Silvertowns with the Life-Saving protection of the Golden Ply give you both freedom from blow-out fears and months of extra mileage! And, what's more, they cost no more than other standard tires.

This insignia indicates that The B. F. Goodrich Company complies fully with the tire manufacturing industry code.

PASADENA GETS CUP FOR BEST PARADE FLOAT

A huge crowd of spectators that blackened the shores of Newport Bay thrilled to a pageant of scintillating beauty Saturday night as the twenty-sixth annual Tournament of Lights burst forth in splendor. Lights of all colors danced and glittered on the waters of the bay. Stately floats floated before an admiring multitude as Newport Beach played host to its largest crowd.

As a bomb thundered over Balboa, and a star shell burst in the sky, the parade moved slowly out into the black waters of the bay, and a cheer went up from the crowd, some of whom had been waiting hours for its start. Music of all sorts, from the silvery tinkle of Spanish guitars to the martial rhythm of drum corps and bands, accompanied the parade of pageantry on its course.

Santa Barbara's huge white swan led the Corinthian division of over a hundred entries, two cygnets six feet long trailing in the wake of the large float. The Santa Monica civic float of an outrigger canoe with accompanying surf board paddlers led the division of civic and commercial entries, from the North side of Lido Isle. Over it all the giant anti-aircraft lights off the coast artillery checked the sky.

Near the Santa Monica entry came the glittering entry of Pasadena, long expert in the matter of parades, and winner of the handsome sweepstakes prize for best float of the tournament.

Fullerton's entry depicting the friendly spirit of the city, was second prize winner in the community division, was followed closely by the third prize winner, the San Bernardino entry, advertising the national orange show.

The Richfield float, most representative of all, captured first prize for commercial entries, with its celophane glittering display of beautiful girls and artistic arrangement. The South Coast Boat Builders, with a unique entry featuring speed boat and three aquaplaning beauties, took second place. The Standard Oil announcing car float was third.

Huntington Beach, with its Queen of the beaches, riding in state surrounded by her court, was judged the best of the civic entries, followed by the Corona Del Mar float, and the Anaheim presentation depicting the popular comic character finishing third.

Homes and pieces lining the bay were a blaze of lights, as home owners view for prizes offered for best lighted homes and piers. Robert Pitzer, 1130 Bay avenue, was awarded first prize for his decorated home and pier, second and third going to Stanley Smith Jr., 1114 East Central, and Gordon Cray, 1515 East Bay. For the best lighted home, Roscoe Stehler, 111 Lido Soud, took first, followed by G. E. Halderman, 602 South Bay Front, and E. C. Haskell, 1003 Bay Front.

Prizes for the Corinthian division, captained by J. A. Beck of Balboa Island, were awarded separately. In class 1, for canoes, Ruth Henthorne took first, with Eloise Marshall second, and Bob Gray third in Class 2, for rowboats, Jean Marshall was awarded first, with Mary Wig second and Warren Kettel third.

In the class for sailboats under 20 feet Janet White was given first prize, followed by Robert Hubbard, second, and George Mortimer third. Fourth class, Sailboats over twenty feet, the entry of Robert Hollins was adjudged the best, with Fred Hermon and Fred A. Hough second and third.

Class five prizes, for motor boats, went to Betty Bronson, first, Commodore Chas. E. Donnelly, second, and Allen Walker third. In the cruiser class Ben E. Hunter was placed first, Wilbur Derrthick second, and G. A. Brinckman third. The judges committee announced that special awards in this division will be made later.

Some disappointment was expressed by the scores of thousands of spectators lining the shores of Lido Isle where news reel cameras took shots of the parade, that only the main division of 13 float passed this point. The other division joined the line of march farther down the bay.

LEGION GROUPS HOLD 5TH AREA MEET AT BEACH

Deportation of aliens found to be connected with the communist movement and with other activities having for objective the overthrow of the American government and its institutions, registration of all aliens and the strengthening of the nation's air defenses on the Pacific coast were among recommendations contained in resolutions adopted at the pre-state convention caucus of the Fifth Area of the American Legion, representing some 70-odd posts in Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties, held yesterday at Laguna Beach.

G. W. Stevens, area commander, of Calexico, presided over the session which, in addition to some 150 delegates, was attended by several hundred visiting Legionnaires and their wives. Because of the unexpected large attendance, it was necessary to change the meeting place from the local Legion hall to the grammar school auditorium, on Park avenue. Charles Mason Jr., of La Jolla, area adjutant, acted as secretary.

Three resolutions, two dealing with dues and one with eligibility for membership, were rejected by decisive votes. One of the former, presented by the Laguna Beach post, called for a reduction in per capita contribution to state and national headquarters and for a trimming of salaries paid departmental and national executives. On the grounds that undesirable individuals may gain a foothold in the organization, a resolution opening the ranks to honorably discharged veterans of allied armies, now citizens of the United States, was voted down.

Endorsements Made
Mrs. Marion Fisher, commander of the Women's Legion post of San Diego, was endorsed for the office of vice department commander at large, and Dixon W. Tubbs, horticultural commissioner of Orange county, was given an endorsement for the office of delegate-at-large to the national convention to be held at Miami. These officers are to be voted on at the state convention to be held next month in San Francisco.

A difference of opinion as to the advisability of the area organization endorsing Frank Belgrano of San Francisco for the office of national commander was reflected by various speakers, a motion being made to table a motion for endorsing the former department commander. Following a demand for a roll call, it was found that the Belgrano forces were in the majority, and an endorsement was voted.

Under heading of committee reports, W. A. Huggins of San Diego stated that plans are being made for the establishment of a school for crippled children in Balboa Park in San Diego, to be located in one of the exposition buildings following the termination of the exposition planned next year. Charles E. Nice, county veterans service officer of El Centro stressed the need of additional hospitalization facilities for disabled veterans. He pointed to the rapidly increasing number of mental cases among veterans and urged that this phase be given serious consideration by the Legion in order to secure the adequate hospital facilities.

Speaking for the good of the organization, W. L. Huggins of the San Diego police post, deplored the indifference shown by the general public to the growing danger of pernicious communist propaganda carried on in this country, and urged that the Legion take the leadership in its eradication. The speaker, however, voiced disapproval of activities on the part of so-called vigilance committees and recommended lance committees and recommended principle of law and order, call upon the constituted authorities for the suppression of anti-American propaganda and activities.

Voicing approval of the sentiments expressed by Huggins was a brief talk by Charles E. Nice of El Centro, who blamed recent labor troubles in Imperial county on the San Diego communist organization.

Traced through the disposal of stolen goods in Costa Mesa, Reuben Wallace, 41, Costa Mesa, was arrested Saturday night and booked at the jail for investigation of burglary by Deputy Sheriffs G. F. ## Parents' Anniversary Is Celebrated by Family Circle

There was an especially joyous atmosphere prevailing yesterday evening in the Joseph P. Smith home, 120 South Broadway, an effect to which each individual member of the family circle contributed, for they were celebrating their parents' thirty-sixth wedding anniversary.

Invitations to the gala affair had been dispatched by the sons, sons-in-law and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and a hundred or more close family friends responded with enthusiasm, although unaware of the anniversary nature of the party until their arrival at the Smith home.

The hours from 8 to 8 o'clock had been designated on the invitations, and there was a constant succession of callers until far beyond the latter hour. Mr. and Mrs. Smith occupied prominent places in the receiving line. Mrs. Smith, dressed in jade green crepe with beaded lace yoke, and wearing a corsage cluster of coral pink begonias with maidenhair fern. With them in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Patterson, Miss Elizabeth Smith and Messrs. Joseph W. and Don W. Smith.

The home was vivid with flowers, some of which were sent by friends aware of the significance of the date. Among the gifts baskets were deep red roses, baby dahlias in exquisite pastel hues and stiffly formal zinnias glowing in their deep jewel hues.

In the dining room, to which the guests were bidden informally, ice, appropriately centered with bridal slippers, were served with cake, crisp little home-made wafers, nuts, mints and coffee. There was a certain of green fern back of the table with its beautiful linens, bridal flowers, tapers and its silver coffee service, and standing in background were a tiny bride and groom, suggesting the wedding of July 28, 1898, in Oklahoma. Mrs. Albert Blake, a sister of Mrs. Smith, presided at the coffee urn, while assistance in serving was lent by Miss Eleanor Richards, Mrs. Dorothy Selway and Joe McKee, as well as by the daughters in their capacity as hostesses.

As guests made their selection from the silver trays of dainties, they returned to the living room or sought the airy solarium or the wide porches.

Aside from the special significance of the occasion, it was an opportunity for friends of the family to greet Mr. and Mrs. Smith. For Mr. Smith's duties as state real estate commissioner take them to Sacramento and to other points in the state so much of the time that they have much less contact than usual with Santa Ana friends. In the ebbs and flows of informal conversation of the evening, Mr. Smith, discussing their wedding day, reminded the guests that Oklahoma at that time was known as the Indian Territory.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
1-2 cantaloupe
or
1-2 grapefruit
1 poached egg on
1 thin slice toast
1 tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with
1-4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total 285.
Choice of cantaloupe is used for the calory total. If grapefruit is taken instead, add an additional 50 calories to the total. This question may be in your mind: what makes grapefruit more than cantaloupe in food values? The refuse and water are about even, but the starch content is twice as heavy in grapefruit as in cantaloupe.

An Unusual Pie
Cantaloupe Pie
1 large or 2 small cantaloupes
2 eggs
3 level tbsps. cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1-4 tsp. salt
Cooked pastry shell.

—Contributed recipe.
Remove the seeds from very ripe, well flavored yellow cantaloupe and scoop out the soft pulp with a spoon. Put the pulp in a double boiler with the sugar, reserving 2 tablespoons for the meringue. Heat slowly. When the juice is hot, cook the dissolved cornstarch with the hot melon mixture, when semi-liquid add the beaten egg yolks and cook a minute longer. Add salt and take off the fire. When partially cooled pour the filling into a baked pie shell, whip the two egg whites stiff, add 2 tablespoons sugar, a few drops of lemon extract and spread over the pie. Brown in a slow oven.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Boston Brown Bread
1 tsp. soda stirred into
1 cup dark cooking molasses
2 cups sweet milk
4 cups Graham flour
1 cup cream
2 tbsps. melted lard
1 scant tsp. salt.
Calory total, 4450.

—Contributed recipe.
Foam the soda and cooking molasses in a big mixing bowl, then alternately stir in the sifted flour and sweet milk. Wash and dry the raisins, flour them generously and stir into the dough together with the salt. Last of all stir in the small amount of melted lard. Pound cans (baking powder) are ideal for steaming the bread. Oil them well, dust with flour and pack two-thirds full with dough. Cover the cans and set them into hot water, a trifle more than half way up the sides of the cans. Cover the kettle, bring to a brisk boil, reduce to the heat and boil gently for 1-4 hours. Take out, uncover the cans and bake them 20 minutes in a slow oven to dry out and form a good top crust.

This Boston Brown Bread is a good bet for a picnic supper. Have you one of the earthenware bean jugs? Fill it with canned baked beans, pep them up with catsup, a spoonful of molasses and more dried bacon. Bake 1 hour in a medium hot oven, take out and wrap in many layers of newspaper and the beans will be piping hot when you serve them, miles away. Take along peeled, chilled tomatoes, lettuce and a bottle of French dressing, make coffee over the camp fire, and brush off your very best "fish stories."

Tuesday: A fine Salad: Crab Meat Gelatine.

ANN MEREDITH.

Youel, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Youel, 530 East Seventeenth street. The young people have set November 10 as the date for their marriage.

Mrs. Johnson was hostess to family friends at the latest event, entertaining in her home. Cards bearing the names of Miss Johnson and Mr. Youel were attached to tiny cellophane bags of rice tucked in the folds of tea towels given to guests to hem and embroider for the bride-elect.

Refreshments were served at card tables. Quantities of lovely flowers were used in decorating. Miss Johnson was presented with a corsage bouquet sent by her fiancé.

Present, with Mrs. Johnson and Miss Johnson were Mesdames M. B. Youel, Walter Edkins, George Niedergall, Emma Ames, O. Scott McFarland, Daphne Labbo, Lucille Greenleaf, Floyd R. Keeran, and the Misses Isabel Lindsey, Florine Pollock, Hazel Berge, Eulalia Hoffman, Pauline Riley, Mabel Troxel.

Sewing Club members were guests at an evening affair given by Miss Johnson when she entertained at 2424 Riverside drive. At the close of a session of sewing, the group was invited to the dining room, where a lovely setting had been arranged for the refreshment hour.

A candle-lit table spread with a yellow cloth was decorated with a crystal bowl of sunny poppies. At each place were corsage bouquets and accompanying cards bearing the names of Miss Johnson and Mr. Youel, with the selected November date. All appointments were in yellow, green and white.

Miss Johnson's guests were Mesdames Carl Lykke, George Lighthall, Carroll Ault, Duke Blower and the Misses Marion Taylor, Catherine Whitebridge, Frances Birtcher and Peggy Tadlock.

First announcement of the young couple's engagement was made at a meeting of Pi Theta Chi sorority held early last week in the home of Miss Peggy Tadlock, East First street.

For each member, Miss Johnson had provided a box of candy with cards on which her name was coupled with Mr. Youel's.

C. team during the past few years, was graduated from that university in June. He is a member of Sigma Alpha, honorary athletic fraternity, Phi Delta Kappa, scholastic fraternity, and Phi Kappa Tau. ## FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Gee, this is quite a bombardment! Think of the gumdrops we have sent right over to the Meanies' camp," said Duncy, with a grin.

"I sure have heaved a lot in air. In fact I've shown more than my share. I wonder what the Meanies did when gumdrops showered in."

"Im going to find out," Dotty said. "Don't worry, now! I'll use my head. While things are rather quiet, I will crawl across the ground."

"Into the Meanies' camp I'll sneak. Perhaps I'll get a chance to speak to Scouty. If he's captured, I am sure he can be found."

The Tinymites began to rave, "We'll give you credit. You are brave, but it is very dangerous. You'd better stay right here."

This didn't stop wee Dotty, though. "I have made up my mind to go," said she. And then she started out, with no real thought of fear.

It wasn't very long until the little lass got quite a thrill. By crawling very carefully, she reached a great big tree.

"This is as far, now, as I dare to go. There's Scouty, in a chair," said she. "I wish I had a chance to set the poor boy free."

The big gumdrops that had been thrown into the camp made Scouty groan, "Im hungry. Kindly let me have a fine gumdrop to eat."

"What? Eat these things?" a Meany said. "There's something wrong, lad, with your head." "Oh, no," replied wee Scouty. "They are really quite a treat."

Another Meany cried, "I'll bet he's fooling, but we're going to let him have a chance to prove what he has said. Let's give him some. We'll feed him, 'cause his hands are tied." And, when he'd had one, Scouty cried, "Oh, that was good. Bring on some more. You see, Im not so dumb."

CONCORDIA GAMBLING AND DANCE EPISODE ALL RIGHT SAYS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

In a news article in the Anaheim Bulletin on last Saturday, the district attorney makes certain statements, to which we would like to call the attention of the public.

He was discussing what The Register said concerning the gambling and dancing party at the Concordia club last June. Here is what the district attorney is quoted as saying:

I did not promise protection to anybody. I wasn't there and cannot speak from first-hand as to what went on. But I investigated among those who did attend, and they tell me the entertainment presented was not different from that usual to the events of the kind. My reports indicate there were no nude women on the program.

The Register desires to repeat the facts in the case, and let the public judge the district attorney on his own statement, in the light of the facts.

On the afternoon of the day, in the evening of which the gambling party was held in the Concordia club, we were called up by a man who, from time to time, has given us important facts concerning the doings of the gambling fraternity and others with the public officials.

He told us that there was to be a gambling party, gambling paraphernalia in the Concordia club on that evening, that several women had been engaged to dance, and that one or more of them were to be disrobed to the limit. He said further that they had been promised protection from those high in authority in Orange county.

We sent news representatives over to this hall. The gambling was going on in full force, with hundreds of people there.

At a certain time in the program, the other part of the statement of our informer was proven true, as one of the dancers eliminated the last "stitch" from her body, as she left the platform. This is according to the statements of people who were there, published broadcast in The Register, and from that hour to this, there has not been a solitary effort by the district attorney to check up on the facts as far as we know, except as he made the statement in the Anaheim paper on last Saturday.

In that statement he says that there was nothing took place that doesn't regularly take place at such parties, and that no such event did take place. The Register had two representatives there. The facts as they were presented have never been denied to us.

The district attorney said he was told by somebody that that didn't happen. The fact is that the whole event, the expose, the story, as it was brought out, laid upon the district attorney's doorstep, the obligation to do something about it.

He didn't do anything about it, and of course his only alibi would be now to say somebody told him that it didn't occur. We were informed that they could carry this on with immunity. We exposed the facts and laid them out to the light of day.

There was no attempt by the district attorney on that night, or any time since, to prosecute the case. Our informant said that there was the promise of protection. We don't know whether there was such a promise, except as our informant told us and that is hearsay evidence. They do not make such promises in the presence of The Register.

The same man has given us other information. It has always checked 100 per cent. The readers can figure it out for themselves as to whether the facts justify the statement of our informant.

All we can give is that evidence and the evidence that nothing was done about it, and that the district attorney impliedly declared that they have this kind of thing regularly. For he said "the same thing occurred as usually occurs at such parties." How would the district attorney have acted on this matter if he had promised protection?

There has been more or less of this kind of thing going on in this country, and that is the reason The Register is aroused over the matter.

Individual vice is to be regretted, and those who practise it have the admonition of the church, their own conscience and all of the elements of appeal to rectitude to stop it in their own individual life.

But commercialized vice, the public pandering of men and women to human passions, for private gain and dirty living through the violation of society's rules of conduct, must be stopped by the strong arm of the law. If we cannot depend upon the district attorney to protect society from commercialized vice, where, pray, shall we look?

And here we find him excusing what took place, declaring "that is the usual thing" and impliedly stating they are having such parties continuously. If there were a promise of protection, could anything have been carried out more perfectly than it was?

The full facts presented to the public, no subpoenas at the time, nobody put under oath, no prosecutions, nothing done until a month or more afterwards, and then a defense of what took place comes from the mouth of the district attorney.

Assuming for a moment that the district attorney had not been counselled with before this took place, that what he said was true, that he didn't know anything about it until he read it in The Register, what did he read in The Register?

It was the description of gambling and the rest. Did he act then?

Did he make inquiry of The Register concerning the facts? No.

When he was fully advised, as was the public everywhere, of the plain and palpable violations of the statutes, he kept silent for weeks and then simply said: "That is the customary way they carry on at these times."

And then the district attorney said: "Regardless of what the Santa Ana Register and its publisher, Mr. Burke, say or do, I shall run my own office."

We do not believe that the public needed to be told that the office of the district attorney did not harmonize with the ideas of The Register in the carrying on of its work.

But we would suggest to the district attorney that that information was entirely gratuitous. The people of Orange county know too well how The Register stands against all the commercialization of the exploitation of the weakness of the people, to think that the district attorney's office in its defense of such events as the Concordia club, was carrying on in harmony with The Register.

If there were any belief that The Register was a party to that kind of thing, we want to express our gratitude to him for clearing ourselves in the minds of the public from such imputation.

COURT SHOULD NOT INTERFERE WITH DUTIES OF PUBLIC OFFICERS

On Saturday Judge Moncur refused an attempt by the gambling interests to enjoin the sheriff from raiding their establishments. This attempt was instituted by the gambling interests of Seal Beach.

The judge, in making this statement, said that no court of equity "should go as far as to interfere with public officers in the proper exercise of their duties."

The attorneys for the gambling interests, in their attempt to prevent the sheriff from carrying on his duties as sheriff, suggested to the judge that some court had declared that the tango game of chance was not gambling. The judge swept it aside with the statement: "That doesn't determine anything for this court." He said: "That is a matter of fact to be determined by the jury and you cannot enjoin the action of the sheriff from performing under the law."

"Property rights," remarked Judge Moncur, "do not extend so far as to include the privilege of violating the law."

Sometime ago, another judge presiding in a similar case here in the superior court, granted an injunction against officials from enforcing the law in the confiscating of the slot machines. One of our superior court judges did this. Armed with decisions of the supreme court, the injunction was dissolved before its legal limit.

At that time, The Santa Ana Register, in discussing this very case, said:

Yesterday Judge Freeman, from Riverside county, sitting on the superior court bench, issued a restraining order against the city officials of Santa Ana, enjoining them from doing what they believed to be their plain duty, in the closing up of what they considered to be illegal slot machines operating in this city.

This is a most unusual procedure, under any circumstances, for a court to restrain peace officers from enforcing the law as they understand it.

We know of only one similar case. This happened two years ago in Cuyahoga county, Ohio. A judge issued a restraining order there, forbidding the sheriff from interfering with a certain gambling program at a race track. This gambling was done under the guise of being within the law.

The sheriff, as a matter of fact, refused to obey the injunction, and said he knew they were violating the law. One of the Cleveland papers, notably the Cleveland Press, wrote very severe strictures on the court.

The men who wrote the stories were cited for contempt. They retained Newton D. Baker and some of his partners as attorneys, and later in a notable opinion, the provisions of which will be published in The Register, as we have just wired for them, the newspaper men were entirely vindicated and the judge condemned.

We are glad to call the attention of our readers to this fact, to show that The Register was correct in its attitude, for the judge Saturday was giving the law in harmony with the plain letter of the statutes and the decisions of the courts.

At the time of the incident, to which our editorial referred, the injunction was dissolved before the end of the time, with the consent of the attorneys for the gambling interests, because what they wanted was time to save their paraphernalia and they had gathered up the slot machines.

This is the case to which The Register referred in its editorial of Friday. Attorney Tom McFadden of Anaheim, who is urging the support of Mr. Kaufman for district attorney, was the attorney for the gambling interests in this case, and steered them through to the protection of their property and the enjoining of the sheriff.

Liverpool Almost Forgotten

New York Times

Liverpool, which has just inaugurated the longest under-river tunnel in the world, was once a greater name in the world than it is now. But it is still a greater name in the world than it is in the United States. For us it grew dim when Liverpool was supplanted by Southampton as the terminus for the crack Atlantic liners. The principal occasion on which Liverpool now emerges in the news is late in March, every year, with the running of the Grand National Steeplechase. Otherwise it is the general impression here that decay has come upon the once great seaport on the Mersey.

A moribund community would hardly treat itself to a new $40,000,000 subterranean tunnel. Liverpool, as a matter of fact, is still the second port in Great Britain, next only to London.

IT'S MOODS THAT MAKE 'EM
A Baltimore judge has ruled that women have a perfect right to change their moods.

When Adam dwelt down in his Garden
Along with his lovely young wife,
The lady, without begging pardon,
Had her moments of petulant strife.
For women, through all of the ages—
Which include quite a number of years—
You will find upon history's pages
Have mingled exclamation with tears.
They pass through all stages of brightness and sorrow;
They are something today and another tomorrow.

Cleopatra, that lady of languor,
Was sometimes all sweetness and grace,
Then anon she would fly into anger,
Strewing cuss words all over the place.
For she, quite like all of her sisters
Who possess any get-up at all,
Knew the best way to cozen the Mistess
Was to mingle the soft stuff with rail.
Which is why Julius Caesar was strong for the gal
And Anthony found her a regular pal.

When a girl isn't temperamental,
When no matter if things all go wrong,
She is winsome and pleasant and gentle
Men will never be fond of her long.
But when has fury and fire
To employ if a John runs a bluff,
She's the sort that the wise boys admire
And they never can love her enough.
They may think that they fancy them gracious and sweet,
But that kind of a girl rarely gets a repeat.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

NEW POLITICS AND OLD FREEDOMS

Throughout the Western world all sorts of new controls are closing in on the old freedoms as varied governments announce their determination to plan the life and enterprise of their peoples.

Some of the old freedoms, now frankly renounced by the new politics of planning, never existed save in the formal creeds of politics and economics.

The substance of other old freedoms long since disappeared, leaving only their shadows to remind us they once were ours, as the shadow of freedom of contract remains when the substance of equality of bargaining powers is well out of reach.

Freedom is neither automatically insured nor automatically destroyed by the fact of a political form.

Poverty may regiment the lives of men quite as effectively as any rule of arbitrary power. And inequity may prove quite as destructive of liberty as any tyranny.

We have known poverty and suffered inequity in our regimes of extensive freedom.

As long, however, as an unquestioned philosophy of freedom was on the books as our official doctrine we could comfort ourselves with the thought that, if liberty had here and there lapsed into slavery, it was all our own fault, that the power to determine our own destiny was after all in our own hands and that, some day when we got around to it, we would conquer poverty, erase inequity and invest our political liberties with social reality.

But today the possibility of this comforting thought is being snatched from us, as the trend of Western politics is definitely away from even a philosophy of freedom.

A new politics of regimentation lifts its voice articulate and without apology.

Our Children

BLUE MONDAY

IT WAS Monday morning. The sky was low and dull gray. No breeze stirred the leaves of the old maple that hung over the doorway. Everything was sticky and steaming. Mother's head felt hot and thick and heavy. All of her felt that way. And the washing waiting. Such a day. And the children all home and as cross as could be. Such a day.

You might know it was Monday. Well, I might as well begin and get it over. Susan, like a good child, sort the clothes in the hamper there while I start the washer.

"O, mother, don't wash today. It's so hot—and everything. Let's go somewhere and stay out all day. Let's."

"And it was day—Well, maybe you're right. Come along, children. Stretchen the house up and I'll pack lunch and we will go somewhere until evening. I know. We'll go to the beach and telephone father to meet us down there and he can have supper with us there. Give him a little coolness too."

"Ma, you're a peach. I'd pick you for my mother any day. Want me to get the kid ready or shall I do something else?"

"Yes, Johnnie. He behaves better with you, Susan and I'll get things together and we'll all be on our way in half an hour."

So washday went by the board and the happy children with their mother, the lunch basket and the dog went to the beach for the day. Father came down on the train and they all had supper by the edge of the sea. Tuesday the wind changed and the sky was high and cool. The washing went through in no time at all. Everybody felt fine and went back on the old routine cheerfully, much the better for the unexpected relief of the holiday.

Every now and then there comes a day that seems about the last straw. Then it is time to break routine and do something different. The work will wait. The health of the family, the serenity of the home atmosphere is more important than the routine, useful though it is. It's usefulness is increased by an occasional well timed break.

It is not always possible to run down to the shore, or to the lake. It is not always advisable to leave home for this unusual day. Then try to vary the program and lighten its weight by changing it.
